CHARGE $47,000 SWINDLE

Boston Men Said to Have Worked Big Bank Robbery—On Way for Hearing.

Charged with swindling Boston banking houses out of $47,000, Foster Hooper, former vice-president of the wrecked Hanover Bank of Boston, and Ernest C. Devine, alias Richard F. Parker, have been arrested in Chicago, and this afternoon Police Inspectors Gtttis and Harris left Boston for Chicago to bring them back to this city.

Devine is charged as being the man who, under the name of Parker, daringly secured $32,000 worth of bonds from the Congress street banking house of A. B. Turner & Co. by giving a worthless and forged certified check. A. B. Turner, with two women stenographers, identified the man in his Chicago cell as the alleged swindler.

The arrest of Hooper came as news to Boston this afternoon and caused great interest. Hooper had been arrested in Chicago for passing false checks. His arrest led to that of his partner, Devine. They had been doing business together in Chicago since Hooper quit Boston after the collapse of his Hanover bank on Hanover street.

Investigations resulted in placing the Boston swindling charges against the two men.

Charged with Gay Swindle.

Hooper is charged as being the man who five years ago swindled E. H. Gay & Co., Congress street bankers, out of $15,000. That swindle was carried out in the same manner as that of the A. B. Turner Co.

LOWELL GIRL STILL IN DEATH-LIKE TRANCE

HAS BEEN SLEEPING MANY DAYS, AND CASE PUZZLES PHYSICIANS.

LOWELL, Nov. 5.—Resisting every attempt to awaken her, Miss Luciana Piette of Lowell has been sleeping since Friday, and it is feared she will never return to consciousness. Baffling every Lowell physician, the young woman is the victim of a power which cannot be discovered.

Will Luciana Piette ever awaken?

That is the question which is haunting the minds of her physicians.

Wrapped in a sleep that may know no awakening this side of the grave, overpowered by a force weird and baffling, the girl apparently lies dead to all that is mortal, and naught but the slight heaving of her chest and the feeble flutter of her pulse reveals life.

For the sixth time in a period of less than two and one-half years this girl, once healthy and vivacious, has succumbed to an affliction which puzzles the most experienced and capable physicians and psychologists.

"God put Luciana to sleep. He can awaken her," said the patient mother today to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter.

Scientists Sorely Puzzled.

Men acquainted with the problems of psychology, the nervous system, the intellect, are puzzling themselves over this remarkable case, but in vain. So far no solution, no explanation of the mysterious force which seizes this pretty young woman at its will and suspends her animation for weeks at a time has been discovered.

Five times before, since October, two years ago, Miss Piette has felt this overpowering influence steal upon her, and four times she has resisted it with all her might, but in vain. The efforts of her father, mother, brothers and sisters (for there are fourteen children in the family) to help her fight off this sleep which knows such tardy awakening have been exerted in vain.

Each trance, if trance it is, has lasted longer than its predecessor. Will Luciana Piette awake from her present lethargy. None but the Almighty knows.

Her first seizure was in May, 1906. It lasted three days. One year later, almost to the day, the strange affliction blotted out her physical senses again. Then she slept eighteen days and nights. Last November she succumbed to a third attack, which continued for twenty days, and this Summer she slept from June 5 to June 29.

"The Lord put her to sleep and He can awaken her and He will," said the mother as she gazed tenderly into the face of her sleeping daughter.

"I have not the heart to allow her to be disturbed. They have begged me to send her to a hospital, but when I saw the doctors work over her until her arms moved about aimlessly and great drops of perspiration stand out upon her face I stopped them. I will not have my girl treated this way. Suppose she should die while one of these attempts were being made to awaken her? I could never forgive those who were trying to arouse her nor myself for permitting it."

"God's Will," Says Mother.

"But you say each sleep is longer than the last. Will she not finally go to sleep for all time?"

"God knows. His will be done."

The slumbering girl of Lowell is twenty-nine years of age. Before this strange affliction came upon her she was strong as any other healthy young woman and she was of a more than usually happy and care-free disposition. She was a great favorite among her social friends.

Two pretty younger sisters, Louise and Marie, seventeen and eighteen years of age, told of their sister's brave struggle last Friday against this last attack which may cost her her life.

"Luciana went to church, but left early as she was beginning to feel drowsy. When she got home she told us she feared another attack of her sleeping trouble was coming. We all got around her and begged her not to give way to it. We told her we would help her fight it off.

Fights Off Lethargy in Vain.

her might, but we could see, poor girl, how frightened she was. There was a haunting look of dread in her eyes that scared us all. She began to work about the house as hard as ever she could and she even tried to sing.

"We were all of us making fun and pretending that we thought she was scared. It was sorry work but we did the best we could. Finally we missed Luciana for a few minutes. We had foolishly allowed her to go into the front room alone. Mother called her and then rushed into the room.

"There, fast asleep in a big arm chair, we found our poor sister, her head leaning on her shoulder. We had come too late! The awful thing had overpowered her the moment she was out of our sight."

The young woman lies in a light, well-aired bedroom. She is apparently in a profound slumber, but the constant twitching of the eyelids suggests the hypnotic. Her respirations are light and her pulse is but a feeble flutter. Some of the Lowell physicians have diagnosed her malady as self-hypnosis.

The menace to a victim of self-hypnosis is that since none puts its object to sleep but the person himself there is no other one to awaken him. Nature had awakened Luciana Piette five times in the past. Will nature assert itself again?

As the young woman takes absolutely no nourishment while she is under the power of this weird spell each time she has awakened she has been more emaciated and far weaker than before. Each sleep has been longer than its predecessor because her resistance has grown less. Her physicians fear that this sleep will prove her last, for she has not recovered from the effects of her twenty-four-day trance last June.

Grave Danger Involved.

If her sleep is caused by her own suggestion, who is there to awaken her but herself? Many who have watched the case liken it to a case of obsession which involves the disputed principle of whether it is possible for malign or other spirits to crowd themselves upon the personality of living beings and temporarily possess themselves of mind and body.

Another danger, more menacing than all the others in the theory of self-hypnosis is the fact that persons gifted with this occult power of throwing themselves into trances determine the length of time they are to remain under the spell of their own power. With the trance goes the auto-suggestion to awaken at a stipulated time.

In case, however, the suggestion to sleep and the following hypnosis is not accompanied by the necessary suggestion to awake there is grave danger that the sleep will be prolonged till death intervenes. Miss Piette has fought off these attacks of slumber. She has never so much as thought of charging her mind with its duty to reassert itself. Hence the menace is that she may never awaken.

Sometimes Miss Piette sleeps but lightly and after she has recovered consciousness remembers things said and done in her presence while she was under the occult spell. She has said afterward that she has dimly heard conversation and even experienced pain or discomfort if handled possibly too roughly, but even then her feeble efforts to arouse herself are vain.

This auto-suggestion is unconscious in the case of Miss Piette, if such be the strange power which overwhelms her. It is stimulated by an abnormal and complicated nervous condition.

JURY DEBATES MORSE'S FATE; VERDICT SOON

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—At noon today the jury in the Morse case came into court and requested that Judge Hough's charges covering conspiracy be reread to them, which was done. The jury immediately retired and resumed deliberations.

Should the two bankers be found guilty, they will be sent at once to cells in the Tombs. That has been settled by Judge Hough, despite the appeals of the lawyers for the defendants. He has come to the conclusion that with a verdict of guilty their bonds die, and though he will listen to motions of counsel, he will not issue an order that will give them the right to file new bonds.

Keeps Up Husband's Courage.

Mrs. Curtis was the first one in the court room to await the verdict. Though her lips quivered and she seemed at times on the verge of collapse, she held herself up bravely. In fact, she kept up the courage of her husband, too, for it was believed that without her he would have broken down during the trial.

Charles F. Shirk, the juror whose illness last night caused a suspension of the consideration of the case, was on hand this morning. He appeared with the other eleven men at 9 o'clock. He had gone over the case with the others in the jury room on the upper floor of the Federal Building from the time it was given into their hands in the afternoon till about 9 o'clock last night, when he complained of serious illness. He was troubled with lumbago.

Gordon Wendell, the juror who was first taken sick, had gone to his home, and Mr. Shirk went with ten of them to the Astor House. There he got a good night's sleep and arose this morning in good condition. At 9 o'clock he announced that he would be able to go on, so the twelve men with six deputy marshals and six secret service men walked across to the building to begin their work on the case again. Mr. Shirk showed no traces of his illness and walked into the building with a steady stride.

Snubbed by Mrs. Curtis.

Mrs. Morse arrived in court a half hour ahead of her husband. She had a woman friend with her and they took seats inside the rail, where they have sat during the trial. Although Mrs. Morse passed directly in front of Mrs. Curtis, the latter did not look up. She had been reading a newspaper account of the case and she didn't life her eyes from it.

Morse himself and some of his lawyers reached the court room just before 10 o'clock. They took their seats and then made inquiry to try to learn if the jury would be ready to report a verdict at 10 o'clock. The financier was as calm and cool as usual. Despite the fact that he was soon to hear his fate, the nerve that made him famous did not desert him.

In expectation of a verdict, there was a large crowd in the courtroom, and as the hour of 10 approached more piled in, anxious to learn quickly whether or not the former ice king would be found guilty or not guilty. Judge Hough slipped into his chambers and waited to hear from the jury.

EMPLOYES OF DOUGLAS CO. IN MASS MEETING

BROCKTON, Nov. 5.—Intense interest is felt throughout this city in the mass meeting held this afternoon by the employes of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company in the vacant No. 1 factory of the concern in the Montello section. Citizens have an idea that what is done there may have a very vital effect on the general prosperity of the city. The Douglas employes, according to the condition of business, number from 3,000 to 3,500 operatives.

The meeting, which was called to order at 2 o'clock, is to pass upon the question whether the operatives are in favor of having the differences between the company and the union adjusted, and if they desire to ask the Joint Shoe Council to take up the matter.

The meeting was called by a committee of employes. Leading members of this committee are George N. Hildard and William G. Smith of the lasting room, and representatives of other departments in the Douglas plant.

Public interest in the situation grew acute when it was learned that the Douglas Company had leased a factory for five years in Springvale, Me. It is wondered what the intention of the great shoe concern is in regard to this plant, and just why it felt the need of a factory out of the State. Some Brockton people thought that the company wanted a plant outside of Massachusetts for any such emergency as serious trouble with Brockton employes. Throughout the city there is great concern least any of the Douglas output be made outside of it.

FRANCE ROUSED BY ATTITUDE OF GERMANY

PARIS, Nov. 5.—The sudden forcing by Germany of the case of the Casablanca deserters on France was the sole topic of conversation to-day in political circles. The friends of M. Clemenceau declared that the premier had decided finally to make no further concessions under Chancellor von Buelow's menaces.

The French press treats the event as being of the foremost importance, overshadowing the American elections and the Turkish crisis. The universal opinion is that the German foreign office, angered at other entanglements, is resorting to the old practice of wreaking its wrath upon France. This is the first time such an attempt has been made since M. Clemenceau became prime minister.

The situation is so grave that M. Cambon, the French Ambassador at Berlin, tendered to President Fallieres his resignation, which on Prime Minister Clemenceau's advice has been refused.

The dispute arises from the arrest on September 25 of six soldiers of the French foreign legion in the act of deserting. Two of them were German subjects and an agent of the German consul at Tangier was convoying them on board a German vessel when the party was seized by order of General d'Amade, the French commander.

The deserters are now in the French prison at Casablanca.

JAILED FOR VOTING ON BROTHER'S NAME

For voting under the name of his brother, John, in Precinct 1, Ward 14, Jeremiah Slattery of No. 394 Athens street, South Boston, was to-day sentenced by Judge Fallon in South Boston Municipal Court to serve three months in the House of Correction. Slattery was arrested Tuesday by Officer Gammett of Station 12.

MOTHER ASKS PROBE IN DEATH OF GIRL IN POND

MEDWAY, Nov. 5.—The sudden death of Miss Ruth Putney, which became known to-day through the identification of her body, taken from Keyboard Pond, near Ivorytown, Conn., while explained on the grounds of suicide by the authorities, has resulted in the mother of the girl demanding an investigation.

The identification of Miss Putney's body followed the discovery of her hat and coat on the shores of the pond yesterday and the subsequent finding of her body in the lake. The police declare that there are indications that the young woman committed suicide. Miss Putney was visiting relatives in Ivorytown.

Mrs. Marcella F. Putney, the mother of the girl, is not satisfied with the explanation. To a reporter from the BOSTON AMERICAN to-day she declared that her daughter had no reason for taking her own life.

"There is absolutely no reason why Ruth should have committed suicide," she said, "and I shall never believe that she did. She was on her way home from Cleveland where she has been visiting since last June. I expected her to-day. She had plenty of money of her own and besides that she has just inherited a large legacy from a relative.

"I am sure that she had no love affair, at least I know she did not have one before she left here and she would have told me if she had fallen in love with any man while she was away. She wrote me often and confided everything with me. I am not satisfied with the explanation that she is a suicide and I shall not stop until I am sure the matter has been investigated to the fullest extent."

Friends of the young lady in Medway are equally surprised and indignant over the report that she committed suicide. Almost with a single voice they declare that she did not take her own life. It is impossible, they say. She was very popular among the younger set and much loved by her friends. She was twenty-six years old.

ARREST THREE FOR BREAKS AT WINTHROP

James Monahan, nineteen; Henry Coffin, twenty-one, and Paul Bragg, twenty-one, of Winthrop, were arrested in Providence to-day charged with breaking and entering at Winthrop last week and the larceny of a large amount of jewelry.

The Winthrop police have been after the young men ever since they disappeared from the town following the breaking and entering into two stores on Saturday night. Last Thursday the store of John Concannon and the McConnell jewelry store were broken into. From the jewelry store a large amount of valuables were taken.

Detectives Haran, Caffrey and Maguire of Providence arrested the men to-day in their room in one of the best hotels of that city. In a suit case which was found among their effects was a large quantity of jewelry, consisting largely of cuff buttons and scarfpins. A large number of fine briar pipes were also found in the bag. The men were at once taken to Boston.

MILLINERS MEET.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The convention of the Millinery Jobbers' Association opened at 10 o'clock to-day at the Iroquois Hotel. The proposition to enlarge the scope of the association and to take in the Eastern dealers will be the principal effort of the convention.

They were rescued just as they were being overcome by the cold and exhaustion.

BATTLESHIPS LEAVE AMOY FOR OLONGAPO

The warships were given a hearty send-off, the Chinese warship Fei Ying firing a salute and the fort raising the American flag beside the Chinese standard.

SOCIETY GIRL IN COURT LAUGHS AT AUTO CHARGE

Brockton Young Woman in Costly Furs Pleads Guilty to Speeding.

GIVES POLICEMAN A RIDE

Clad in the most fashionable motoring togs, with a magnificent full length Russian sable coat and fur toque, Miss Mae E. Story, a wealthy young society woman of Brockton, created a sensation in the Municipal Court to-day when she picked her way through the crowded courtroom to the witness stand to answer the charge of running her automobile in this city without a license. She pleaded guilty to the charge and her case was placed on file by Judge Murray.

A week ago Patrolman Underhill of the East Dedham street station, while on Columbus avenue, caught Miss Story tearing down the thoroughfare in a huge touring car at what he says was an unlawful speed. At any rate he was unable to catch her. When he returned to the station after a stern, but fruitless chase he swore out a warrant for her arrest. Three days later he saw her again. This time he shouted to her and told her that he had a warrant, but that he couldn't arrest her as he would have to go to the station for it. Miss Story laughed, and then said. "Jump in and let me take you down to the station." Underhill did, and he says he never made the trip faster.

To-day Miss Story took her case good naturedly. She laughed continuously during the officer's testimony, and even interjected her own with contagious little chuckles.

Miss Kellermann went to Harvard to-day and saw Dr. Dudley A. Sargent, who declares she is one of the most perfect women, physically, that he has ever seen, and comes nearer the ideal of the artist than any one he had ever seen.

GREAT BOOM IN BUSINESS HAS STARTED

Here is what Roosevelt and Taft say the election means:

This administration has meant a steady effort and progress which should never be allowed to deviate into an unwise radicalism on the one hand nor into an unwise conservatism on the other. The nomination of Mr. Taft was a triumph over reactionary conservatism, and his election was a triumph over unwise and improper radicalism.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

I believe I was elected by the business men of the country, Democrats as well as Republicans; that I received my share of the labor vote and that the farmers generally stood by me. I am very much gratified.

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Here is what the election already has meant to business men:

PITTSBURG, Nov. 5.—From both steel making and railroad circles here comes the apparently well founded rumor that the United States Steel Corporation, acting in conjunction with outside rail making mills of the United States, has decided to reduce the standard price of steel rails, and in appreciation of this concession big railroad systems of the country have agreed to order rails heavily and at once.

The standard price for rails has for years been $28 per ton; the Pittsburg rumor cuts prices to $24. The report comes from a source authoritative, and no one can be found here to deny it.

The Pennsylvania Railroad to-day began taking stock in anticipation of placing its big order for rails. From Philadelphia came blanks to be filled out, showing how many rails have been laid in the past year.

Railroad authorities in discussing the matter say the life of a rail is seven years, which shows that one-seventh of each system's trackage must be laid new each year, but as there has been little track laying for almost two years, the railroads are in need of almost double the former annual requirement in steel rails and these orders will be placed soon.

Thread Mills Resume Full Time.

NEWARK, Nov. 5.—Upon the announcement of Taft's election the 5,000 operatives in two great thread mills in this city were notified that full time work would be resumed next Monday. Since last April the mills have been running on part time.

Wages Advanced 20 Per Cent.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 5.—President Milton Bartley of the American Nut and Bolt Fastener Company announced that beginning today the wages of his concern's workmen would be increased 20 per cent. and that extra time could be made by all workmen who desired it. The concern is not a large affair, employing but a few hundred men, but President Bartley says that for two months past he has been receiving orders from railroads to be filled immediately after the naming of Taft as President, and that orders have piled up so that he has been forced to call in all the old force and to restore top wages in order to get the work done.

Penn. R. R. Starts Heavy Repairs.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 5.—Orders were received to-day by the Pennsylvania Railroad at Pittsburg to place every man and boy possible in the repair shops of the road here in order to help out the cars which have for months been on sidetracks in different stages of repair. As a result, the railroad shops to-morrow morning will for the first time in a year have a full quota of men.

It is estimated that the Pennsylvania has 10,000 freight cars which must be repaired before they can return to the rails, and this is the work to which the army of workmen will be turned at once.

VICTORY PUTS JIM DONOVAN IN POWER AGAIN

Tuesday's Returns Show Him to Have Wiped Out Old Scores on His Foes.

HOLD'S FITZGERALD'S FATE

As a sequel to Tuesday's election James Donovan of Ward 9 looms up this morning like the Democratic "Boss" of Boston. The returns give him a place and prestige not belonging, perhaps, to any man since the day of the late Patrick Maguire. Donovan did a great deal Tuesday. He re-elected Congressman John A. Keliher, his closest political friend, for a fourth term.

He elected Frederick clerk of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court under circumstances which to many made his candidate look like a long shot.

He was the prime factor in the success of James H. Doyle over Senator McKittrick in the Fourth Senatorial District.

He led his faction to success in several contests in the home districts of ward leaders who hoped to see him "go down and out" in Boston politics.

He defeated the two Fitzgerald candidates for the House in Ward 6, thereby putting a serious blight upon the former Mayor's aspirations for the 1909 mayoralty nomination.

Has Drop on Mayoralty.

One year ago Donovan was himself beaten for the highest county office in the gift of the people, and yesterday he turned the tables on some of the Democratic politicians who helped to keep him out of the position of sheriff by electing his candidate for another very important Suffolk office. He did these things, and other things besides, in the face of such handicaps as a recent personal defeat in the shrievalty fight, and having been for four years superintendent of streets.

Few men ever leave the latter office with many friends. A superintendent of streets has a good many jobs and contracts to distribute, but the patronage at his command is but a tithe of what is expected. These disappointed think they have as strong claims as successful rivals. All this breeds personal animosity against the superintendent. Donovan felt it more or less when he was a candidate for sheriff. Then for the first time in his political career did he offer himself as a candidate to the voters of all Boston.

But those who said a year ago that Donovan's political sun had set for good were mistaken. It rose again election day. Donovan is in a position to make alliances which will be likely to make him the dominating power in the fight for the Democratic mayoralty nomination next year. No man is likely to get the nomination if Donovan opposes him. In fact, the drift is now in the direction of Donovan being the power behind the throne, if a Democrat is inaugurated Mayor of Boston on January 1, 1910.

Chief of Strategists.

Donovan was the big figure in the Board of Strategy in the days of the Mayor Quincy regime. The Board of Strategy was given its popular, or unpopular, name by Martin M. Lomasney, who led all the fights against it. It disintegrated very rapidly when the self interests of the leaders who comprised it began to conflict. Former Mayor Fitzgerald was a member of it. Now he is an ally of Lomasney and back where he started in politics. Whether he has more of a past than a future in politics seems now to rest largely in Donovan's hands.

Donovan was president of the Democratic ward committee and city committee when it was of much more consequence than it has ever been since. He ran the machine for the benefit of the Board of Strategy with distinguished success. The Quincy administration was the high tide of "gang" rule in Boston. Donovan has always stood by his "gang" and it has always stood by him. A great deal has been said about Lomasney's absolute control of Ward 8 and what Fitzgerald could do in Ward 6 or McNary in 15. But there has never been a ward leader in Boston any stronger, if as strong, year in and year out, as Donovan has been in his home district.

Donovan's success is largely due to his pleasant personality. He has been called "Smiling Jim" and "Sunny Jim." He is a warm-hearted man, and the way he sticks to a friend is unique in "practical politics." Genial, magnetic, a grand "mixer" and entirely lacking "the tight wad" disposition, he is the kind of a machine politician who is hard to beat and not likely to stay beaten.

Any man who was superintendent of streets for four years before the days of the Finance Commission had a chance to leave the office with no financial fear for the future.

Is "Smiling Jim" Donovan His Party Boss in Boston? Ask Him

Men who know Donovan most intimately say that when he left that office he owned his home on Emerald street, which is not a very high-priced piece of realty, and little else except a lot of good clothes. Donovan was always a good dresser, but never loud in his garments. He has good manners as well as good taste. He is neither vulgar nor profane in speech. He talks as if he had had more shooting than he ever really got.

He is free-hearted and lets money slip through his fingers as water through a sieve. He is one of the few men who "make good" all the time on the reputa- "make good" all the time on the reputa-

WINS $19,919 AWARD FROM GOVERNMENT

J. Scott Parish, administrator of the will of the late Joseph R. Winch of Brookline, received a verdict for $19,919 against the United States Government by direction of Judge Lowell in the United States District Court. The suit was to recover $15.708 with interest on a legacy tax which he paid the Government under protest under the war revenue act.

STABLE FIRE CAUSES ALARM IN E. BOSTON

Fire, which was started last night in the stable at No. 159 London street, East Boston, by the overturning of a kerosene lamp, caused alarm among tenants in nearby tenement houses. The stable is in a thickly settled district and for a short time the firemen had difficulty in quieting the neighborhood. Many tenants started removing their furniture and valuables from their homes. The barn was stocked with hay and grain, which made a spectacular fire and burned for more than an hour. Five horses, which were in the barn, were rescued.

SIX MEN OF PRESENT CABINET WILL REMAIN

TAFT'S ADVISERS TO INCLUDE HITCHCOCK, KELLOGG AND LOEB; 2 FROM BAY STATE.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—It is predicted that the Cabinet President Taft will announce March 4 will be:

Secretary of State—Elihu Root, New York.

Secretary of the Treasury—George Von L. Meyer, Massachusetts.

Secretary of War—Luke E. Wright, Tennessee.

Postmaster-General—Frank H. Hitchcock, Massachusetts.

Secretary of the Navy—William Loeb, Jr., New York.

Attorney-General—Frank B. Kellogg, Minnesota.

Secretary of the Interior—James R. Garfield, Ohio.

Secretary of Agriculture—James Wilson, Iowa.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor—Oscar S. Straus, New York.

The secretary to the President will be Fred W. Carpenter, of Minnesota and California.

Not Permanent.

The Cabinet named above, it is said, will not be permanent. Mr. Root will remain as Secretary of State throughout the administration of Mr. Taft, even should it extend over eight years, if he wishes to do so.

Mr. Meyer, the present Postmaster-General, will succeed George B. Cortelyou as Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Meyer is so much interested in establishing a parcels post and a postal savings bank that he does not want to leave the work, but Mr. Taft has the highest idea of his financial ability, and the Massachusetts member of Mr. Roosevelt's Cabinet will move up Pennsylvania avenue March 4.

General Luke E. Wright of Tennessee was put into the War Department to succeed Mr. Taft because of his intimate knowledge of the Philippines and Panama conditions. Mr. Wright, however, is a Democrat, and it is unlikely that he will be retained more than a few months after the inauguration.

Frank H. Hitchcock was slated for the portfolio of Postmaster-General when he was taken away from the Corrections Department last February to take charge of the Taft boom for nomination. Afterward there developed considerable friction between the Presidential candidate and his manager, who in the mean time had become National Chairman.

Frank B. Kellogg is National Committeeman for Minnesota, has been "trust buster" for the Administration, and will be the next Attorney-General. It is true that he has been attorney for the Steel Trust; but Mr. Taft said daily toward the close of the campaign that he could see no harm in any attorney, not a member of the official family of the Government, exercising his right as an attorney to take lucrative employment.

Mr. Taft feels that young Mr. Garfield, the present head of the Interior Department, has shown ability that should be rewarded by reappointment.

Straus's Work Unfinished.

Oscar S. Straus, as Secretary of Commerce and Labor, established what amounts to a free government employment agency, whereby immigrants are shipped from Ellis Island to jobs already obtained for them in the West. Results thus far have been encouraging, but the plan still is in experiment. Mr. Straus's interest in it is so deep that there is no likelihood that he will be disturbed in working it out.

Fred W. Carpenter, who will be secretary to the President, succeeding Mr. Loeb, is a native of Minnesota, but spent most of his life before going with Mr. Taft in California. Mr. Taft says of him what Mr. Roosevelt says of Loeb, that he "is the best private secretary a man ever had." Mr. Carpenter was recommended to Mr. Taft nine years ago, when Mr. Taft was in the Philippines, and has remained with him since, twice encircling the globe and making side trips to Cuba and Panama as the average man would take a run to the country. He is thirty-four, retiring, discreet, modest, but with a firmness that is startling.

ST. ANN'S WILL HOLD REUNION

The first reunion of the parishioners of St. Ann's Church, Gloucester, will be held Thanksgiving eve. Rev. C. J. Herlihy, the pastor, will be in charge.

In City Hall in the afternoon there will be a concert, in which 200 children will take part. In the evening Miss Margaret Whitty and P. J. O'Brien of Gloucester, Miss Harriet Joyce of South Boston and a quartet, consisting of Miss Louise Chisholm, Nellie Ryan, Joseph Judge and Martin Kelly, all of Boston, will entertain.

At the dancing which will follow the evening's entertainment the following young women will be aids: Misses Nellie Hogan, Mollie Burns, Winnifred Deane, Bella Murphy, Mamie Murphy, Nellie Sullivan, Sarah Quinn, Margaret MacDonald, Rose Lonergan and Margaret Colby.

The honor of leading the march with Mayor Henry H. Parsons will be secured by the young lady who sells the most tickets.

MACKAY ESTATE SWEPT BY FIRE

ROSLYN, L. I., Nov. 5.—Fire early today swept over more than an acre of woodland at Clarence H. Mackay's estate at Harbor Hill, and it was only after a hard fight that the entire property was saved from destruction. Neighbors of the Mackays, employes on the estate, and the firemen of the Highland Fire Company finally succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

It is believed that a spark from a passing locomotive started the fire.

6 TEAMS IN NEW LEAGUE

Six departments of the Boston Woven Hose and Rubber Company have entered a league this season, including the Brass Finishing, Rubber Belt, Large Hose, Small Hose, Hose Cutting and Shipping departments.

The first game of the season was bowled last night on Cuthbert's alleys on Green street, Cambridge, between the Brass Finishers and the Belt Makers, resulting in a victory for the former with a score of 1,387 to 1,0[illegible].

The feature of the games was the work of Captain Ed Gallagher of the Finishers, who rolled a three-string total of 312.

FINED $50 FOR 'STRAD' THEFT

James A. Murdock, a music teacher, living at No. 139 Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, was fined $50 for stealing a genuine Stradivarius violin from Andrew Smith, one of his pupils, by Judge Murray in the Municipal Court to-day. Murdock appealed and was held in $100 for a later trial. Smith lives at No. 553 Harrison avenue. Some time ago he discovered that a cheap violin had been substituted for his Stradivarius. He accused his teacher, and later swore out a warrant for his arrest.

CRUSHED UNDER FALLING HOUSE

While attempting to move a house single handed, George Aggot of No. 20 Gould street, West Roxbury, was seriously hurt on the estate of Albert Sydeman, No. 375 Arborway, Jamaica Plain. The house toppled over on him and broke both his legs below the knees. He was pinned beneath it, and was only extricated with the greatest difficulty.

Double Legal Stamps will be given with every purchase mornings until 12 o'clock noon at Wolf's, "My Clothier," corner Hanover and Portland streets. Single stamps thereafter.

DISAGREE ON THIRD TRIAL

For the fourth time the case of [illegible] W. Boyd, formerly of Everett, now of California, vs. the Park Sausage & Provision Company of Boston is to be taken to the Massachusetts Supreme Court. This morning a jury in the East Cambridge Civil Court reported a disagreement as the end of the third trial of the case.

Boyd was employed by the sausage company in October, 1901, when he lost a hand and forearm by being caught in machinery. He sued for $10,000. The first trial ended in a verdict for the defendant by order of the Court. The Supreme Court ordered a new trial. The next time Boyd was awarded a verdict of $5,250, which was set aside by the Supreme Court when the defendants took the case up on exceptions.

PARKMAN WILL ALLOWED

The will of George F. Parkman of Boston, who left a large share of his $6,000,000 estate to the city of Boston as residuary legatee, the income to be used for the maintenance and improvement of the city parks, was allowed to-day by Judge George in the Suffolk County Probate Court. Francis Parkman of New York, a relative, who had entered an appearance through counsel, withdrew. It is understood there was a settlement to prevent a contest of the will. Judge George appointed Edmund D. Codman of Boston executor and required bonds of $500,000.

LAURIZIER IS JAILED IN ASSAULT CASE

Special to the Boston American.

LAWRENCE, Nov. 5.—Edward Laurizier, who was arrested here in connection with the investigation of the murder of Mrs. Margaret Smith, Sunday evening, was sentenced to ten days in the House of Correction to-day by Judge Mahoney on a charge of assault upon Miss Elizabeth Whittaker several weeks ago. City Marshal Sheehan told the court that the police are anxious to have Laurizier held until the death of Mrs. Smith can be further investigated.

The assault upon Miss Whittaker took place the night of August 16. She told the court that she went from her home, No. 20 Broadway, to a store in the block where Laurizier lives, and that while on her way home lost a laundry check. She asked Laurizier if he had seen it and he attempted to embrace her, she says.

The police to-day are looking for another man wanted in the investigation of Mrs. Smith's death. The police have evidence that the night the woman was slain she and her husband and another man were seen quarreling near the spot where her body was found. This man has not been identified and the police believe if he can be found he will be able to aid in solving the mystery of Mrs. Smith's slayer.

SOCIETY GIRL TO BE BRIDE OF HUB CLUBMAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Sylvia Caroline Parsons, daughter of William Barclay Parsons, chief engineer of the Public Service Commission, called at the City Hall with her father and obtained license for her marriage on Sunday to Rudolph Weld of Wareham, Mass., a wealthy cotton merchant and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen M. Weld of Dedham, Mass.

Miss Parsons is twenty-two years old and was one of the strikingly handsome debutantes of three years ago. The wedding will take place at Trinity Church. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. William T. Manning, the rector, and then there will be a wedding breakfast at the home of Miss Parsons's father, No. [illegible] East Fiftieth street.

Mr. Weld is twenty-five years old and a graduate of Harvard 1905. He is a member of the Porcellian Club of Harvard and the Somerset Club of Boston. The couple will take a honeymoon trip to Europe.

FATHER O'GRADY GETS $1,400 PURSE

Before a large gathering in Needham Hall, Roxbury, last night, Thomas Gill presented Father O'Grady a purse of $1,400 on behalf of his many friends. This money was obtained from the concert and dance tendered to him last Thursday evening in Curtis Hall, Jamaica Plain.

MAN AND WIFE WILL BE TRIED FOR MURDER

Salvatori and Mary Strozzi of Somerville will be tried on November 30 in the Superior Criminal Court at East Cambridge on the charge of murdering Peter J. Wilson, a Somerville teamster, on the night of March 24 last. Each defendant accuses the other of shooting Wilson. Mrs. Strozzi has stuck to the same story since her arrest the night of the shooting. She declares Wilson insulted her and when she pleaded with her husband to avenge the insult he pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired the shot that killed Wilson. Strozzi declares that his wife took the revolver from his pocket and fired at Wilson.

NAT GOODWIN PLANS WEDDING ON SATURDAY

Wins Pretty Edna Goodrich at Last After a Stormy Wooing.

COMEDIAN BUYS THE RING

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The attentions of Nat C. Goodwin, player, mining promoter and publisher, to Miss Edna Goodrich, at one time his leading woman, have become so marked that their friends easily accept the report that the two are to be married on Saturday.

It was even said that Mr. Goodwin purchased the wedding ring yesterday at Kirkpatrick's, No. 334 Fifth avenue, and that Miss Goodrich would make the news of her betrothal public to-day.

Mr. Goodwin would make neither a denial nor an affirmation of the report of another marriage, his fifth. He is at the Plaza, and in the afternoons is busy rehearsing at Wallack's in "Cameo Kirby." Seen shortly after he had left the theater, he said:

"Nothing to say now. If I did, everybody would know it."

Elsewhere it was learned that Mr. Goodwin had told his most intimate friends that if he were ever to marry Miss Goodrich, she would be the one to break the secret. Miss Goodrich could not be found, though it was ascertained that she took dinner with her reported fiance.

Triumph of Comedian.

The triumph of the comedian in winning the former Floridora singer would be the climax of a romance more complicated than any which he ever helped portray upon the stage. His wooing, it is said, has led him from one European capital to another, then across the Atlantic and to the shores of the Pacific.

At times the thread of the plot seemed irretrievably snarled by rival suitors, one of whom at one time was reported to have completely ousted Goodwin from the east. This was Harry McMillan, the Goldfield millionaire.

The report that McMillan was to marry Miss Goodrich was especially strengthened by her admissions that the magnificent gowns which she ordered by the trunkful in London and Paris were purchased by McMillan for her trousseau. Then it was that she was said to have exclaimed, when asked if she had forgotten all about her comedian admirer: "Why, how could anybody marry a man with a couple of chins?"

McMillan Went Back West.

But McMillan suddenly quit buying silks and gowns, and went back to Nevada to dig more gold. His exit marked the entrance of Goodwin. He "happened" into San Francisco, where Miss Goodrich and her mother were staying, and the McMillan snarl appeared to be disentangled.

After the divorce of Mr. Goodwin and Miss Maxine Elliott, on September 23, reports again became current that his marriage to Miss Goodrich would forthwith follow.

It was also learned that Miss Goodrich had become interested financially in various mining properties which Mr. Goodwin is exploiting in Nevada. She has told her friends that she believes "Nat" is bound to be rich, because he is as persistent in mining as in love making.

One of Miss Goodwin's investments in "Goodwin securities" consist of 1,500 shares of Rawhide Coalition.

REJECT FIRM'S STRIKE OFFER

There is a strike at the Eagle Shoe Company plant on Willow street, Lynn. Eighteen lasters have quit work with a demand for 18 cents a dozen for assembling. The old price has been 15 cents a dozen. In an effort to get the men to return to work the firm has offered the strikers 16½ cents a dozen. This has been refused.

The entire shop's crew, including about fifty women employed as stitchers, are meeting this afternoon in an effort to bring matters to a settlement.

HIGGINS GIVES UP OFFICE TO WIN FAIR BRIDE

Rhode Island Governor Heeds Wishes of Fiancee, Miss Maguire of Pawtucket.

WEDDING IN TWO WEEKS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 5.—Governor James H. Higgins of Rhode Island will be married within the next two weeks to Miss Ellen F. Maguire of Pawtucket. They have been engaged for some months.

Their friends declare that it was on account of Miss Maguire's advice, and his coming marriage that the Governor refused a renomination and a probable reelection as Governor. She is of quiet, retired nature and did not care for the great social events with which her life would be crowded as wife of the Governor of the State.

The Governor is happy in his sacrifice of office in exchange for his fair bride, and declares he no longer cares for public office. When he turns his office over to Governor-elect Aram J. Pothier, Governor Higgins will again take up his law practice in Pawtucket.

Miss Maguire is twenty-seven years old. Governor Higgins is thirty-two.

Noted for Charity Work.

Miss Maguire is the daughter of John F. Maguire, president of the Maguire Contracting Company of Pawtucket. Her father is a moderately rich man. Miss Maguire was born in Pawtucket, Governor Higgins's home city, and educated there. She has traveled much abroad. Miss Maguire is noted for her work among the poor of Pawtucket.

Governor Higgins has been Governor for two years. He is a Democrat. His administration was a complete overturning of machine rule in this State and forced the Republicans to repudiate the Brayton machine government. When Governor Higgins announced that he would not run again the Republicans took up the cry, "Drive Brayton out of the State House," and as a result the Republican State ticket was elected Tuesday.

Brown University Man.

Governor Higgins is a graduate of Brown University and the Law School of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C. He has been a member of the Legislature and for three years, from 1903 to 1906, was Mayor of Pawtucket. He was chosen Governor in 1907. He gives up office to his successor on January 1.

The marriage takes place in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Pawtucket, where Miss Maguire worships.

BOSTON CURB

To the Public

The Boston Curb has removed from Exchange Place to Doane Street.

During the past three months the Boston Curb has taken vigorous measures to eliminate from its trading list those worthless and fraudulent stocks which in the past have been the channel for defrauding the investing and speculating public of millions of dollars, and to eliminate from its membership and trading privileges irresponsible men with criminal pasts and professional fraud and trickery records.

In the future the public may rest assured the brand "Boston Curb" will carry with it a guarantee to the public.

1st. That all stocks dealt in have been carefully, conscientiously and honestly investigated before being admitted to "the list."

2d. That criminals and professional tricksters have not secured the admittance of their bogus stocks to "the list" by the payment of cash and calls on their stock to Curb officials.

3d. That dishonest Stock Exchange houses are not using the Curb to unload upon the public fraud-made or worthless stocks, open connection with which would mean the expulsion of such houses from the Stock Exchange.

4th. That any member of the Curb found guilty of trickery or fraud, upon conviction for any act detrimental to the interests of the investing and speculating public or fellow-members, will be expelled from all the privileges of the Curb and publicly exposed.

5th. That the publication in the press or by circular of false or misleading statements by members of the Boston Curb will be investigated when the attention of Curb officials is called to such acts, and that upon conviction for responsibility for any such statements, members of the Curb will be summarily expelled and publicly exposed.

6th. That all transactions reported on the "official list" of the Boston Curb are legitimate.

7th. That the only commission or other compensation received by Curb members will be that which is openly advertised as fair and proper.

8th. That the Boston Curb exists first and fundamentally for the purpose of giving to the public a square investment and speculative deal.

The Boston Curb asks the patronage of the public, and requests that in all cases where anyone has bought or sold stocks, whether through Curb houses direct or through Stock Exchange houses, that such buyers or sellers demand the name of the Curb broker who executed their order, and that in any case where they have been imposed upon by overcharge of commission or price paid or by false statement, they inform the officials of the Boston Curb in writing of the circumstances.

Already since the removal of the Curb to its new home it has secured evidence that orders from the public to Stock Exchange houses for execution on the Boston Curb have been executed by irresponsible bucket shoppers. In such cases those engaging in the transaction, whether Stock Exchange houses or others, are amenable both to civil and criminal action.

The public should bear in mind that the honest, fair and decent conduct of the Curb's business is of greater import to the public than to members of the Curb or the Stock Exchange. It is the public's money which is always involved. It is the public who pay all "the bills" of the Curb and Stock Exchange houses, running into millions annually, and it is the public who are always the victims of any dishonest practices of stockbrokers.

In the year 1907 alone the Boston Curb did over fifty millions of business. Twenty millions of this amount was fraudulent, and the public were robbed of over $5,000,000 because of the fraudulent and criminal acts of certain brokers and confederates.

In one case alone an absolutely bogus check was not only Curb "listed" and the thieveries of its sponsors steered and managed by Curb members, but after hundreds of thousands of shares had been traded in, and when it was impossible to secure any more stock by issue to unload upon the public, the certificates which had been once unloaded were bought in and forged—raised 10 and 100 times and resold or borrowed upon, and this without the protest or exposure of the Curb.

Every purchaser of a Curb stock who is told by his Curb broker that he is acting for a Stock Exchange house should demand the name of such Stock Exchange house that he may look to it for redress in the event of false or misleading statements. This is necessary because of the practice of irresponsible outsiders who use the name of reputable Stock Exchange houses without their knowledge.

FATHER GIVES LOWELL BRIDE $40,000 CHECK

Special to the Boston American.

LOWELL, Nov. 5.—Just before the fashionable wedding today in St. Patrick's Church of the Hon. Frederico di Palma, editor of the Naval Magazine of Rome, member of the Italian House of Delegates, or National Legislature, to Miss Rosalie Agnes Williams of this city, Charles M. W. Williams, the banker, and father of the bride, presented the young people with a wedding gift of $40,000.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Archbishop William H. O'Connell, and the great church was crowded by invited guests. Miss Josephine Boynton of Lowell was bridesmaid and Adolf Falkenberg, Italian Consul in New York, was best man. The groom is very wealthy and is a member of a distinguished Italian family. The young couple sail at once for Italy, where they will live.

The young couple met while Miss Williams was travelling in Italy. Di Palma heard her play her violin at a reception and he fell in love with her. He arrived in Lowell yesterday from Italy.

SEEKS DUTY ON WINE LOST BY FIRE

Paul H. Jacot, a Boylston street restaurant keeper, is seeking to recover customs paid the Government on a consignment of wine destroyed in the big East Boston dock fire last July. Duty amounting to $150 was paid an hour before the wine was consumed by the flames.

SALESGIRL PLEADS GUILTY OF STEALING

Miss Bertha Perkins, who has been employed in a Washington street department store for several months, pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny, when arraigned before Judge Murray in the Municipal Court today. She will be sentenced later. She is a pretty brunette and was becomingly dressed in black. She lives at No. 10 Greenwich park, South End.

She was arrested by Patrolman James Orr of the Lagrange street station, after she had been watched for some time by Store Detective Ross. The complaint says that she stole wearing apparel valued at $75. Goods had been missing from the counter where she was employed for a long time, and the management finally detailed Ross to find the thief.

Before Miss Perkins obtained employment in the store, from which she admits taking goods, she worked for a Summer street concern. It is said that goods belonging to the latter store were found in her rooms.

DENIES NEW TRIAL IN LAND FRAUD CASES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Justice Stafford of the District Supreme Court, overruled motions for new trials made by Frederick A. Hyde and Joost H. Schneider, convicted last Spring of conspiracy to defraud the United States in connection with securing vast land grants in California, Oregon and Washington. The motion to arrest judgment was not disposed of. Sentence will be deferred until that motion is decided.

Mrs. Hewitt, Robbed of Pocketbook at Point of Revolver

HUNT DAYLIGHT THIEF WHO ROBBED WOMAN

DARING MAN ARMED WITH REVOLVER SURPRISES MRS. HEWITT IN HOME.

The entire police force of Everett is to-day hunting for the robber believed to be the leader of a gang of housebreakers who have been burglarizing houses in Boston suburbs for many months, who walked into the house of Mrs. Emma H. Hewitt at No. 10 Charlestown street, Everett, pointed a revolver at her head, robbed her of her pocketbook and then fled from the house. Each policeman has the following description of the robber, as given by Mrs. Hewitt:

"Young man about twenty-nine years old. Five feet eight inches tall. Brown eyes. Black hair. Smooth face. He wore at the time of the robbery black spring overcoat, dark trousers and black derby hat."

Demands Her Money.

The Everett police admit that the robbery was a singularly bold one. The Hewitt home, No. 10 Charleston street, is directly opposite the factory of the Everett Cable Company where Mrs. Hewitt's husband works. The outlaw entered the home in broad daylight.

"I was filling my lamp in my kitchen," said Mrs. Hewitt, an attractive woman of about thirty years. "I heard the back door of the house open, but I didn't turn around as I thought it my little boy.

"'I want your money,' said a rough voice. My heart leaped to my mouth as I turned around and was confronted by a revolver held at my head by a villainous-looking man.

"I was so frightened at first that I could not speak. Finally I managed to say: 'I haven't any money.'

"'Sit down in that chair,' the fellow ordered. I sank into the chair. He kept the revolver pointed at me while he backed into the dining room, where he pulled out the sewing machine and sideboard drawers and dumped the contents on the floor.

"Not finding anything he wanted, the robber came back into the kitchen, still displaying his revolver.

"'I suppose you keep your money where all women keep it,' he said. I was too frightened to say anything, and with that he tore at my stocking. As he did so my pocketbook fell out. He snatched it from the floor and said:

"'Now you keep still till I get out of here,' and the next moment he slipped out by way of the back door. I was so scared that I simply couldn't move at first. Then I ran into Mrs. Callahan's house next door and told her what had happened. She ran for my husband and he notified the police."

COMMITTEES MAKE REPORT

More than 100 members of the various committees on plans for the big Catholic Charities' bazaar that will open in Mechanics building next week met last night in the hall of the Young Men's Catholic Association on West Newton street to make reports, which were very gratifying.

It has been arranged that two bands will furnish music in the main hall, and in the restaurant a woman's orchestra will play. The bazaar will open next Wednesday and last until Saturday night.

How to Reduce Fat

The Simplest and Surest Way to Get Rid of Fat Said a Noted Physician, is Rengo.

How to Prove It to Yourself. Get a Free 50-cent Package.

The Above Illustration Plainly Shows What Rengo Has Done For Others. It Will Do The Same For You. Try It.

NEW TRADE MARK.
Rengo Is Guaranteed. You Eat It Like Fruit or Candy.

The Above Pictures Prove There Is No Longer Any Excuse To Be Fat and Sloppy. Rengo Will Do It.

There has become known a remedy for fat, the use of which has already resulted in enormous benefit, and most probably in the saving of many lives.

This remedy is commonly called Rengo. The rate at which this remedy will reduce fat and do it harmlessly and surely, is truly remarkable. A pound a day is ordinarily the loss recorded, being done by compelling perfect assimilation of the food, and sending the surplus to where it belongs. The most remarkable feature of Rengo is that you can take all you want of it without running the slightest risk of harm. It can be chewed like candy and is pleasing to the taste.

Many physicians, who before were at a loss to know how to cure obesity, are now prescribing Rengo with remarkable success. It is a great nerve-strength producer, affecting digestion primarily, and inducing a general exhilaration of mind and body. Wrinkles which appear in nearly every case of reduction of fat where injurious drugs and starvation process is tried, do not occur where Rengo is used.

There is nothing "just as good" as Rengo. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per full-sized box, or full mail prepaid by The Rengo Co., 3,212 Rengo Bldg., Detroit, Mich. The company will gladly send you a 50c package free by mail, if you write them direct to Detroit and enclose 10c as an evidence of good faith and to help cover postage and packing. No free packages at drug stores.

For sale in Boston by Jaynes Drug Co., 7 in Boston, Houghton & Dutton, Henry Siegel Co., Washington and Essex sts.; Woodward Drug Co., 100 Tremont st.; W. B. Hunt Co., 707 Washington st.; 655 Mass. av., Cambridge, and 3 Pleasant st., Malden.

Weak, Lazy Bowels

A free trial will convince you that Multo-Fruto is the most natural constipation cure known, because it contains tropical fruit-juices, and everybody knows that there is nothing so quick and thorough in curing chronic constipation and weak, fagged nerves as a fruit treatment. You can eat and enjoy it like fruit or candy.

Full sized packages, 25 and 50c at drug stores. If your druggist has not got it, send your remittance to the Rengo Co., Rengo Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and they will send it prepaid. You can get a trial package of Multo-Fruto free only by writing to the above address. No free packages at druggists.

THORNTON TO GO TO CHAIR TO SAVE BROTHER

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—That Thornton J. Hains would go to the electric chair rather than jeopardize his brother's reason by putting him on the stand in his present mental condition is the statement made by Joseph A. Shay, of counsel for the defense. Mr. Shay said that if Justice Aspinall set the trial of Thornton Hains for an early date, when the matter comes up in the Flushing Court next Monday, the defense would not call Captain Peter C. Hains to testify in behalf of his brother. A new form of [illegible], which Mr. Shay refused to fix his name, will be the basis of the defense in the case of Captain Hains, and, according to the statement given out, competent alienists will show that Captain Hains, while insane for several days before the shooting of Annis, and insane at the time of the commission of the act, will have recovered his mental balance when the case comes to trial, provided that the trial is delayed for several months.

The contention is that Captain Hains is now in a precarious condition, and that permanent insanity might result from the excitement of taking the stand at the present time.

Capt. Hains will testify, according to Mr. Shay, that up to the time he learned of the charges made by his wife in her answer to the divorce proceedings—at which time it is claimed he lost his reason—Thornton Hains had never urged or counselled him to injure Annis.

It is believed that Mrs. Claudia Libby Hains will shortly come to this city from Boston for a conference with District-Attorney Darrin, of Queens County.

STOP USING SOAP

Causes Dandruff and Falling Hair and Ruins the Scalp.

The startling statement was recently made by one of the best known hair specialists in the country that soap as used in shampooing the hair and scalp is responsible for more cases of dandruff and scalp troubles than any other known cause. The reason is quite apparent when one realizes the excess alkali that very many soaps contain and which is really the principal cause of scaly scalp and dandruff.

The discovery of Birt's head wash was brought about in an effort to obviate and do away with the use of common soap as a shampoo in cleansing the hair and scalp, on account of common soap injuring the scalp and causing dandruff and falling hair. The marvelous success of Birt's head wash in not only preventing these troubles, but curing them as well, has caused a demand for it all over the country that has never before been known for any similar remedy for the hair and scalp. One or two applications will greatly benefit the worst cases, and used occasionally, it will keep the hair and scalp absolutely free from dandruff, as well as promote a luxuriant growth of hair. A full supply may be had in Boston at Houghton & Dutton Co.'s, R. H. White Co.'s, the Riker-Jaynes Stores and other leading drug stores for 50c.

FIGHTS OFFICER WITH "JIMMY" AFTER CHASE

FUGITIVE OVERTAKEN AND IS HELD AS A BURGLAR SUSPECT.

After a half mile chase in the South End early to-day Officer Robert Stewart overpowered and arrested a man who gave the name of Joseph Dillon. During the struggle the prisoner attacked Stewart with a "jimmy" which the officer got after a desperate fight.

At the East Dedham street police station Dillon was booked on a charge of breaking and entering the drug store of Frank Shea, corner of Washington and Union Park streets. When searched at the station house the police found two dozen cigars, several boxes of cigarettes and half a dozen skeleton keys.

Officer Stewart says that while patrolling his beat along Washington street he saw Dillon standing in the doorway of Shea's drug store. Dillon saw the officer and ran, the officer giving chase. Dillon rushed up Union Park street to Shawmut avenue, down Shawmut avenue to Hanson street to Tremont and back to Shawmut avenue, where Officer Stewart overtook him.

On investigation it was found that the door to Shea's drug store had been forced open and a padlock broken.

CITY INSPECTOR ASPHYXIATED

Frank Kneeland, inspector in one of the city departments, was accidentally asphyxiated by gas during the night and was found dead on his bed by his wife at daybreak.

Kneeland was fifty-five years old and lived at No. 7 Galena street, Roxbury. He came home late, and in some way left the gas flowing when he went to bed.

Mrs. Kneeland was sleeping in another room, so escaped the fate of her husband. Medical Examiner McDonald pronounced death accidental.

Charcoal Removes Stomach Poisons

Pure Charcoal Will Absorb One Hundred Times Its Volume in Poisonous Gases.

Charcoal was made famous by the old monks of Spain, who cured all manner of stomach, liver, blood and bowel troubles by this simple remedy.

One little nervous Frenchman held forth its virtues before a famous convention of European physicians and surgeons. Secheyron was his name. He was odd, quaint and very determined. His brothers in medicine laughed at his claims. Thereupon he swallowed two grains of strychnine, enough to kill three men, and ate some charcoal. The doctors thought him mad, but he did not even have to go to bed. The charcoal killed the effects of the strychnine, and Secheyron was famous. Ever since that day physicians have used it. Run impure water through charcoal and you have a pure, delicious drink.

Bad breath, gastritis, bowel gases, torpid liver, impure blood, etc., give way before the action of charcoal.

It is really a wonderful adjunct to nature and is a most inexhaustible storehouse of health to the man or woman who suffers from gases or impurities of any kind.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal, sweetened to a palatable state with honey.

Two or three of them cure an ordinary case of bad breath. They should be used after every meal, especially if one's breath is prone to be impure.

These little lozenges have nothing to do with medicine. They are just sweet, fresh willow, burned to a nicety for charcoal making and fragrant honey, the product of the bee. Thus every ingredient comes to man from the lap of nature.

The only secret lies in the Stuart process of compressing these simple substances into a hard tablet or lozenge, so that age, evaporation or decay may not assail their curative qualities.

You may take as many of them as you wish, and the more you take the quicker will you remove the effects of bad breath and impurities arising from a decayed or decaying meal. They assist digestion, purify the blood and help the intestines and bowels throw off all waste matter.

Go to your druggist at once and buy a package of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, price 25 cents. You will soon be told by your friends that your breath is not so bad as it was. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

'NEVER AGAIN' FOR BRYAN, SAYS MACK

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—"William J. Bryan will, in my judgment, be the next United States Senator from Nebraska and will never run for President again. Bryan will lead the fight in Congress for tariff revision, and will perhaps prove a more potent factor there than if he had been elected President."

This prophecy was uttered by Chairman Norman E. Mack of the Democratic National Committee, upon receipt of what he regarded certain information that the Democrats will control the new Nebraska Legislature.

Chairman Mack evidently was unaware that the next United States Senator from Nebraska will not be chosen until early in 1911, unless Senator Burkett or Brown should die or should become physically incapacitated.

Burkett's term expires March 3, 1911, and Brown's two years later. A new Legislature is to be meantime selected, and Republicans say it will be Republican.

"It would be very natural," continued Chairman Mack, "for the Nebraska Democrats to send Mr. Bryan to the Senate. His personal popularity and the magnificent battle he conducted against overwhelming odds to win the country will, I believe, provoke a demand from the six millions of Americans who supported him at the polls that he be their spokesman in the upper House at Washington, and put himself at the head of the movement there for revision of the tariff and other reforms to which the party pledged itself in the Denver platform.

"Mr. Bryan will then hope to create such an impression in the Senate as to force his renomination in 1912?" was asked.

"It is my conviction that Mr. Bryan will not be the presidential candidate in that year, and I doubt if he will ever again."

"Just who will be I would not attempt to predict."

"Southerners say they will make formal request that one of their number shall head the ticket four years hence."

"The selection of a presidential nominee is not governed by geography, but by availability. Our next nominee will be chosen, I do not know from where, but I am sanguine that four years hence we shall retrieve the disaster we have just suffered and win a handsome victory."

"What really caused his defeat?"

"Misrepresentation that his success and that of the Democratic party would retard the business interests of the country. That argument never had any foundation in fact. But apparently a majority of the voters believed it and their ballots emphasized it."

"Is it intended, in view of the defeat of Tuesday, to reorganize the party?"

"There is no necessity for reorganization. The party is more united than it has been since 1892. In this union lies the future strength and power of recuperation."

FROTHINGHAM PAID OUT $5,000

Louis A. Frothingham has filed with the Secretary of State a supplemental report showing that on October 24 he paid the treasurer of his campaign committee $2,000, which, with the $2,500 previously reported, makes a total of $4,500, which he personally expended in his campaign for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor. His election expense is stated in a return filed with the secretary as $500, making the total expense to Mr. Frothingham an even $5,000.

Congressman Lovering has filed a return showing that his renomination against Senator Wheatley cost him $2,759.

WOMAN AND DRINK; THE LESSON OF THE HAINS CASE---By DOROTHY DIX

WHATEVER the future developments of the Hains case, there is already one lesson to women in it that looms up large and lurid, and that is, a warning against drink.

Mrs. Claudia Hains may be innocent or guilty of the great crime charged against her, but her own letters convict her of intemperance. Every one of them that has been made public has some reference in it to drinking.

She writes that she has been to this and that place, where they had a lot of drink. She tells of drinking bouts in which her companions, some of them women, became drunk. She even refers, in humorous vein, to the fact of having a headache that is not a "morning after," and these letters will prove her own undoing. They try and sentence her at the bar of public opinion.

For the woman who drinks must pay the price in suspicion, and though she be as pure as ice and as chaste as snow, she will never be able to make people believe it. They have seen her with humid eyes and flushed cheeks and unsteady feet, her judgment clouded, her will paralyzed, her senses inflamed; and they know she is as helpless a creature on the tide of circumstances as a ship at sea whose captain has been swept overboard and whose rudder is lost.

Loses Reverence of Womanhood

Every woman who drinks too much makes a costlier libation than Cleopatra did when she dissolved a pearl in her wine cup, for she throws into her brimming glass the reverence that goes with womanhood and the faith of others in her goodness.

The road that leads to perdition for women nearly always starts at the convivial board, and if a monument is ever built to the souls of lost women it will be built of champagne bottles and cocktail glasses. "She drank too much," is the motto that might be inscribed upon the door of despair of almost every one of those poor unfortunates.

We talk of a single code of morality for men and women; but nature itself made a different law for men and women, and there are things that men may do with more or less impunity that a woman may do only at her peril, and one of these is drinking.

Men may drink and be only drunkards, which is low enough, God knows; but a woman drunkard falls to a lower depth still. A drunken man is a thing to fill us with disgust, but a drunken woman is a sight so terrible that the most callous of us could turn aside our heads and weep with shame and pity.

But it is pity filled with repulsion, that makes good women draw their skirts away from her, that gives men license to insult her, and that leaves us all feeling that we would rather see a sister or daughter of ours dead in her coffin than with that stain of wine on her lips.

Public Ready to Think the Worst

This should make every woman very careful in her use of intoxicants, for there is no denying the bald fact that the public is ready, without further evidence, to credit the worst of any woman who is known to be addicted to the use of strong drinks.

Especially should girls refrain from drinking wine in public, because, in the first place, it takes very little to affect them, and, in the second place, they are often suspected of having taken too much when they have not.

The very excitement of supping or dining in public, the natural high spirit of youth, the contagion of gay company, will flush a girl's cheeks, and often raise her voice and make her laughter louder than she knows. If she has had even half a glass of wine, there are sure to be covert winks and nods among those who observe her, and a sneering whisper that she has had too much.

However false a calumny, it hurts her; it takes away something of the pure whiteness of her girlhood; for a maiden's character is like a magnolia bloom—you may not even breathe upon it without forever tarnishing its fairness.

So the wise thing for all young girls to do, in public at least, is to turn down their wine glasses and drink nothing but water.

Worse for Women Than Men

All that has been said about the curse of drink for men may be said a hundred times over for women. For every penalty that a man has to pay, the woman must pay a thousand fold. Her nerves are the finer strung, her body the more delicate, her will offers less resistance; and, on her—mentally, physically and morally—alcohol does its deadliest work.

The woman who drinks sinks not into the gutter, but into the pit, and there is not a hand to draw her out, for the intemperate woman does not find that men view her weakness with the same patient tolerance that women extend to men's lapses in the same direction.

There is no loving, pitying husband to greet the wife who comes reeling home, as there is a long-suffering wife to get up at 3 a. m. and find the keyhole for a drunken husband, and spend the balance of the night applying ice to his aching brow.

And one is glad of it. Let justice be done and the punishment fit the crime. Let the woman who drinks pay the bitter price in the wreck of her home and the loss of her husband and children, so that she may be a warning to other women against the serpent in the wine cup that stingeth like an adder.

Sleep, Water and Beauty

Plenty of the First Two Insure Girls the Last

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

NOT one person in ten gets enough sleep, or sleeps in the right way.

To sleep without plenty of fresh air is to take just so much poison into your system. It means that you breathe the same air over and over again, and then you wonder why you feel so heavy and languid in the morning.

No matter how cold the night, open your window as far as it will go. If you wrap yourself up properly, you will not feel the cold.

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Wear a flannel gown and something over your head. The last thing before going to bed, fill a bottle with hot water, cork it tightly and place it in the bed.

If you have plenty of bed coverings you will be as warm as possible all night.

I have slept out of doors as late as the middle of December, and I know from experience that you will feel no discomfort if you dress warmly enough.

Plenty of Sleep Most Important

If you are a business girl, and your brain works busily all day, it is most important that you get plenty of sleep. I know it is hard to go to bed early when the evening is your only time for relaxation, but health is more important than anything else.

Make Saturday night your time for fun and going out.

Nothing ages a woman so quickly as late hours. You should sleep eight hours at the least. As you grow older you can do with less, but there is nothing like refreshing sleep to keep the eyes bright and the complexion fresh.

If you find it hard to sleep after daylight, tie a black cloth lightly over your eyes. An old stocking is best, as it is soft and pliable.

The girls who work all day, and go to three or four dances a week, are bound to show the result very quickly. One dance a week is as much as any girl can stand, unless she can make up her lost sleep during the daytime.

Few Girls Drink Enough Water

There is another bit of advice I would like to give you, and that is, drink plenty of water.

A celebrated physician once told me that every person should drink, at the very least, three pints of water a day. I am quite sure that a great many of you don't drink even one pint a day.

If you give up tea and coffee, and drink milk and water, you will not only be more healthy, but you will have a much prettier complexion, and that is something that every girl longs for, isn't it?

Just remember these two pieces of advice, like good little girls: Drink lots of water, and get plenty of sleep, and you will all be healthy and beautiful.

The "Towers of Silence" and Their Meaning

By REV. THOS. B. GREGORY

THE traveller to Bombay, the New York of the Orient, is sure to have his attention called to Malabar Hill, and to its "Towers of Silence."

On Malabar Hill is the Parsee Cemetery, but it is a cemetery in no such sense as we understand the word. The Parsee does not bury his dead; he does not cremate them; he places them on the "Towers of Silence." That is all.

These Towers of Silence—there are five or six of them on Malabar Hill—are circular and massive, of about thirty yards in diameter, but not more than ten or twelve feet in height. They are built of most carefully joined blocks of granite, and then plastered all over with a very powerful white cement, for the reason which will presently appear.

The top of the tower is a grated platform, which is completely hidden from view by the surrounding parapet.

It is upon the grated tops of these structures that the Parsees lay the bodies of their dead, to be devoured by the great birds that are ever waiting upon the above mentioned parapet. Facing inward, the vultures quietly rest upon their perch until the white-robed bearers of the dead place their burden upon the platform, and then they all swoop down.

It is short work. In less than half an hour from the time the body is reverently laid upon the grated floor the birds have ended the work that takes years by the method of burial. Two weeks later, men, with long tongs, place the perfectly dry bones in the great central well, and all is over.

Founded Religion of Light

The founder of the Parsee religion, of whom something will be said later on, left two supreme commands: "Thou shalt not defile the earth," and "Thou shalt not defile the sacred element of fire."

On account of their veneration for these teachers, and the religion that he founded was one of the purest and noblest known, two commands, the Parsees refuse to bury or burn their dead. Hence the Towers of Silence on Malabar Hill. Hence the thick layer of powerful cement enclosing the towers.

To show the influence of a good and great personality, it may be remarked that the founder of the Parsee faith said, among other things, this: "There are three beautiful things—good acts; good words; good thoughts—and of these good acts are the best."

The followers of the grand old founder have not forgotten this word, as every Tower of Silence will show.

The surface is invariably divided into three concentric circular receptacles for the dead, and if you ask the explanation of them, the attendant will tell you that the outer ring is for those of good acts, the next for those of good words, and the last for those of good thoughts.

It was about 800 or 1000 B. C. that the "Holy" Zoroaster lived and taught in Persia, the land of Cyrus, Darius and Xerxes.

War Between Good and Evil

Zoroaster taught that there was one Almighty Power, whose symbol was light. This Supreme One created two spirits: Ormuzd, the spirit of light, and Ahriman, the spirit of darkness.

Between these spirits there is war to the knife, and no compromise is possible. They are to fight it out to a finish, until one or the other is completely conquered and destroyed.

And the final champion—from whom the championship is never to be taken away—is Ormuzd.

In the end, light is to win and darkness is to be completely banished from the creation.

In other words, evil is to be ultimately driven from the universe, eliminated, exterminated, wiped out and destroyed, leaving the world clean, sweet and wholesome.

Zoroaster was one of the greatest of

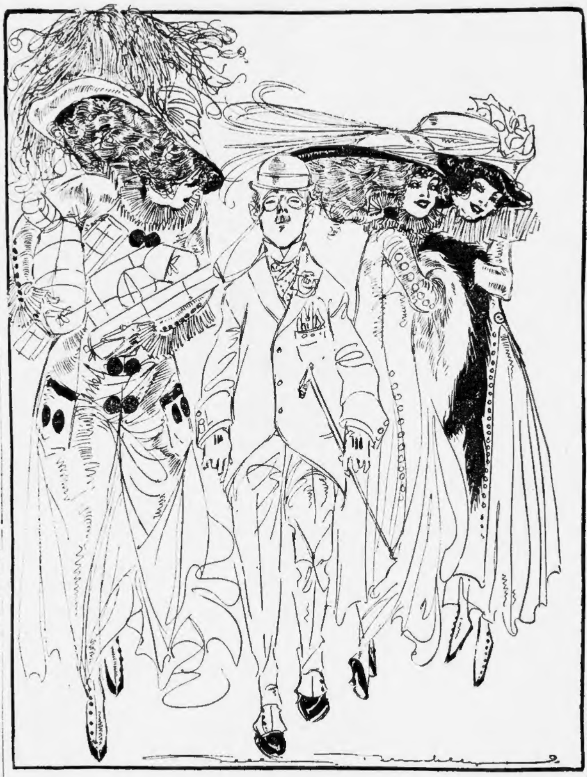
"A Man's a Man for a' That"

By NELL BRINKLEY



"And all the other Sassy Bettys may stand around and giggle and gibe so much as it please 'em."

FUNNY! It doesn't make any "never mind" what variety he is, there's always a Bettina out of all the queer and puzzling ones there are in the world—some fat one or lean one, or handsome one, or Jo-Jo faced one—always one, anyway, to love him to death and adore the way he pigeon-toes when he walks.

Even if his eyes are like birdshot, and his mouth an inch-long scar under a yellow brush; his shoulders fall away from his neck like waste rock wears away from a mesa; he wears a cutaway coat, and a derby like a stopple in a crystal bottle, glove tight trousers and Naples-yellow kids and spats—oh, just a narrow little mud-man, not a real one; just a toy man, a play man, whose corners of his eyes God must have sewn up, 'cause he never looks full and level out of them—like a buttonhole with too many stitches in the corner so the button can't "keek" through.

Well, even so! There's some Lady to love him, and cart all the bundles, and gaze down on him from a glorious height with a soft love mist in her eyes; to baby him, and call him pretty names.

And all the other Sassy Bettys may stand around on their stubby little feet and crinkle their noses, velvety with powder, and bow their red mouths, and giggle, and jibe, and giggle again so much as it please 'em. 'Cause "a man's a man for a' that." And it works turned right around the other way, too.

NELL BRINKLEY.

"Help! Help!" Is the Cry of the Puzzled Postmaster

PUZZLERS are busily engaged in sorting out stamps and dollars to fill the order which Mr. Bank Clerk dropped through the window of an uptown subpostoffice. The postmaster calls for help and passes the tangled proposition on to our puzzle class. Here is the bank clerk's speech:

"Give me some one-cent stamps, three-quarters as many twos as ones, three-quarters as many fives as twos, and five eight-cent stamps for the balance of the money."

He has a single bill of United States currency and claims that anybody with a head for figures should solve his puzzle in a jiffy. The question is:

WHAT DENOMINATION IS THE BILL?

One hundred prize puzzle books will be distributed among those sending best answers to "Puzzle Editor," in care of this paper.

Puzzleists tell how they would fill the bank clerk's order in the following answers:

Dear Puzzle Editor—The postmaster scratched his head and without a moment's hesitation gave the clerk 208 fives, 276 twos, 368 ones and 5 eights, and scooped in a twenty dollar bill.

MRS. JOHN M'CARTHY.

Dear Puzzle Editor—A fifty dollar bill does the trick. The postmaster handed out 522 fives, 706 twos, 938 ones and 5 eights.

H. ELLSWORTH.

Dear Puzzle Editor—If the young man hopes to rattle the old fellow he was fooled, for the postmaster grabbed his one hundred dollar bill and unloaded this bunch of stamps: 5 eights, 1,404 twos, 1887 ones and 1,053 fives.

GRACE BROWN.

Dear Puzzle Editor—The young man threw down a ten-dollar bill and received five eight-cent stamps, 100 fives, 142 twos and 176 ones.

GEORGE GRISWOLD.

If you think any one of the above answers is right, figure it out and see before you send in one like it.

JUST FOR THE FUN OF IT

HOW HE FELT.

"I actually felt like a hypocrite this morning," said Mr. Peck.

"What did you do, Henry?" asked his so-called better half.

"I congratulated a friend of mine who had just got married," replied Peck, as he hurriedly closed the door from the outside.

HIS IDEA.

"What is your idea of a heroine, John?" asked the wife of his bosom, as she looked up from the novel she was reading.

"A heroine, my dear," answered John, "is a woman who could talk back, but doesn't."

ONE SIGN.

Said He—Young Smythe and Miss Browne are evidently in love with each other."

Said She—Judging by the way they look at each other?

Said He—No—No; judging by the way they don't look at anybody else.

The Manicure Lady

She Gets a New Sidelight on Genius—But No Tip

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

"I WONDER if it would be all right for a lady to go up in a balloon with a gent that she doesn't know very well," said the Manicure Lady.

"I wouldn't go up, if I was a lady," declared the Head Barber. "I wouldn't go up anyway."

"I wasn't thinking of it very serious," said the Manicur elady, "because I always reckoned the ground was the place for human beings. But there was a gent in here yesterday to have his nails did, and he was one of the most interesting persons which I have ever saw.

"He was one of them aviators. He was flying all last week out at Morris Park. That's what he told me, anyhow; but I ain't quite sure, George, whether this fellow was a genius or just a plain bug. It's hard to tell the difference sometimes."

"There ain't any difference," said the Head Barber.

"Oh, yes, there is," said the Manicure Lady. "But this gent talked kind of funny in spots, and he had me up in the air, speaking figurative. 'Sister of the moon,' he says, 'wilst soar among the planets with me? Wilst whizz in and out among the myriad stars that twinkle on the Milky Way, the Broadway of the heavens? Wilst soar, and soar, and soar, until, forgetting all that makes for our material existence, we feel ourselves wafted as by angels' pinions to a land that knows not space nor time? Wilst?' he says.

Rather Stay Down Than Fall Down

"'I don't know,' I tells him, 'but I don't think so. I like it pretty well right here in New York. I was up at Fort George once,' I says to him, 'and once I stood at the top of the Singer building, but that was high enough to make me dizzy, and, I guess, that's high enough for any girl to go.'

"'No height, fair one,' he says, gripping my salary hand so hard that the orange stick clattered to the floor, 'no height would be too sublime for thee! Ah, if you could only experience the rare joy of floating, floating, floating far above the sordid haunts of man; if you could but reach up and caress the violet edge of a hitherto undiscovered constellation, oh, what ineffable bliss that would be!'

"'It's a awful long way from the earth,' I says. 'Why not stick around New York, where there is so much to be saw?'

"'Sister of the stars that shine above,' he says, 'I see in thine eyes the splendor of the ages, all the ages. I read there a message of flaming joy, a tale of bliss beyond the ken of any hero save myself. Come, fly with me,' he says.

Thinks Eternity Needs Sweeping

"'How short do you like your nails?' I asks him, commencing to feel a little to the gooseflesh. 'And is that your pet hangnail, or shall I give it the guillotine?'

"'Speak not of such material things as hands,' he says. 'Speak, rather, of the things we know not of. Speak of the worlds beyond, the great and glorious worlds apart from ours,' he says. 'Speak of the stars and their adoring planets, through the maze of which both you and I shall sweep through all eternity. And if, at last, the night shall come to us, we two shall float together through the night.'

"'I ain't keen for all this floating and sweeping,' I says. 'The Elevated and the Subway are good enough for a little working girl like me. I am getting a little overweight,' I says to him, 'and you ain't no willowy proposition yourself. What if we should get up near one of them violet-edged planets and then drop clean back to earth?' I asked him.

"'We could not fall, my love; we could not fall,' he says. 'Our wondrous love would keep us on the heights.'

"'But I ain't your love,' I says, 'and you are getting a little too fresh. Take your left mitt out of the soap water,' I says, 'and let me get to it, because we are going to have a New England boiled dinner up to the house to-night, and if there is anything that I detest, it is cold cabbage.'

Floating, floating, floating. Wilst?

The Genius and the Price.

"'Cold cabbage; cold cabbage,' he says: 'I know not what you mean. Among the stars, where I and my immortal soul do dwell, there is no term like that.'

"'Maybe not,' I tells him, 'but I don't dwell among no stars, and I have got to have my three eats a day, so come on with that other paddy.'

"Then he hands me the left fin and says no more until his nails is all did."

"You mustn't mind them fellows," said the Head Barber, "because they are mostly absent-minded, and don't pay no attention to earth worms like you and me. You always called me an earth worm, and now, that he made you feel like one, how do you like it?"

"He may have been absent-minded," said the Manicure Lady, "but I notice that when the job was done he slipped me the exact price, no more. Genius ain't so much up in the clouds when it comes to money matters."

"It ain't that," said the Head Barber. "You must remember that when a genius slips you the exact price, no more, it means that the exact price is all the genius has."

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

TELL HIM THE TRUTH

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

About two years ago I met a young man, who always treated me very nicely and took me out to several places of amusement; but after going out with him a couple of times he seemed to think that I shouldn't talk to or go with anyone else but him, and every time I did so he became very angry at me. I was about seventeen years at the time, and one night I told him that life was too short and that I thought I was too young to tie myself down to any young man at that time. He then became very angry and never spoke to me again, until one day last week, when he said "good morning" to me; so, of course, I answered him and said "good morning" also. He has now found out his mistake and he wrote me a letter the other day, asking me if we couldn't make up again and be to one another as we were then, but I have since that time been going with another young man, whom I love far more than the first one and whom I get along with very much better, as the first young man had a very jealous disposition.

Now, Miss Fairfax, I write and ask your kind advice in regard to answering the letter, and what to say to him, as I feel as though I couldn't treat him as more than a friend.

S. V. C.

TELL him the truth. Say that you are interested in another man, whom you care for very much, and that you do not care to do anything that might break the friendship. Tell him that, while you feel friendly toward him, you think it better that you should be acquaintances only. You have a perfect right to say all that, and he should take no offense.

SEND THEM BACK.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have been keeping company with a young man during half a year, and was about being engaged when a young lady called at my house, showing a certificate that she had been married to him. I then dropped all friendship with this gentleman. Meantime, he had given me a few gifts, and when I asked him whether he wished them back he answered it was immaterial. He later sent presents I had given him back to me, and asked that I send his back. Kindly advise me what to do.

ANNIE.

SEND them back at once. You surely do not want to keep any reminders of a man who has treated you as he did.

She was uninjured, save for minor bruises, and was able to continue to her home unassisted although badly frightened.

RESCUE CREW FROM BURNING SCHOONER

Cable dispatches from Jamaica to the United Fruit Company of this city tell of the rescue of the captain and crew of the schooner Frank Barnley, lumber laden, which was on fire in West Indian waters last Monday. The men will be brought to Boston next week.

NEWTON FIGHTS LIGHT TRUST

Citizens of Newton are organizing a fight against the Edison Electric Light Company of Boston, claiming that its charges for electricity are exorbitant and beyond reason. A petition is being circulated asking Mayor George Hutchinson to take steps to obtain a lower rate.

The Edison company controls the Newton & Watertown Gaslight Company, which supplies illumination in Newton.

Citizens who have investigated have found that the Edison people are supplying twenty municipalities and towns in the vicinity of Newton at lower rates.

CRUSHED UNDER TRAIN.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, Nov. 5.—While attempting to board a moving freight train in the yards of the N. Y., N. H. & Hartford railroad Neo Nedream, a shoemaker, whose home is thought to be in Marlboro, was probably fatally injured by falling under the wheels.

BUSY WEEK IS REPORTED AT LOCAL HOUSES

Theatres with High-Rank Attractions Prove Good Drawing Cards in Hub.

Virginia Harned has scored a hit at Keith's this week in the playlet from her own pen. Another headliner is Annette Kellerman, while the Six American Dancers have pleased greatly.

In "Wildfire," a racing comedy, at the Hollis Street Theatre, Lillian Russell is wearing some gowns that have attracted a great deal of feminine attention. She designed them herself.

Lew Fields in "The Girl Behind the Counter," at the Majestic Theatre, has a part which suits his talent as a fun-maker to a rare degree.

"Secret Service," which is being played at the Castle Square Theatre by the John Craig Stock Company, is regarded by many as the strongest play that William Gillette ever wrote.

Beautiful Amelia Bingham has made a distinct success in her vaudeville stage production of "Big Moments from Famous Plays." She is one of the most finished of American actresses and is now at the Orpheum.

Ever a Strong Favorite.

William Norris is always a strong favorite in Boston. His appearance here in "The Soul Kiss," which is crowding the Colonial Theatre, is a source of delight to an army of admirers.

It is seldom that any actor ever offers a more finished impersonation than that of the husband in "The Thief" given by Kyrle Bellew. Miss Helene Wilson as the erring wife is also winning high praise.

There are exciting scenes in "On Trial for His Life," which is being played at the Grand Opera House. The scene is the Mexican border, and characters include outlaws and United States soldiers.

"The Merry Widow" at the Tremont Theatre is having a record run and verifying all predictions as to the amount of favor it would win in music-loving Boston.

"My Partner" is a play which has pleased for nearly a generation and made reputations and fortunes. It is the bill this week at the Bowdoin Square Theatre.

"The Thoroughbreds," at the Columbia Theatre, have such sterling comedians as Carrol Henry and Harry McAvoy to lead in laughter making. It is a strong company all through.

At Vaudeville Houses.

Clark's "Runaway Girls," at the Palace Theatre, appear in a pair of burlettas which are well calculated to drive dull care away. It is also a show in which the vaudeville acts are above par.

May Harris, the champion woman wrestler, is proving at the Howard that sex is no bar to athletic excellence. She is a very scientific exponent of the art.

The Rays are always funny, but were never more so than in "King Casey," in which they are appearing at the Globe Theatre. The piece is replete with taking songs.

The bill at the Hub Theatre is of the kind which insures big patronage. The pictures are fine, the singers clever and the vaudeville acts are all good. The bill changes today.

Curios and Vaudeville.

Captain Jack's Seals at Austin & Stone's act as if they were wise enough to vote. The curios and vaudeville acts all please the crowds that throng there daily.

The Long Brothers are repeating the hit of last week at the Star Theatre. When it comes to singing in negro dialect they rank with the best on the stage.

"The County Chairman" is a play that gets close to human nature and the Boston Theatre stock company is giving it a fine production in every respect.

SPLENDID FOR YOUR KIDNEYS ALSO MAKES RHEUMATISM GO

There are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease than any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of kidney trouble. It is nothing more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to sift out, leaving it to decompose and settle about the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering, frequently resulting in deformity, often reaching the heart, when death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent painful and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach disease, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms, the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

A simple test of the urine is to void a small quantity in a bottle or glass and let it stand over night; next morning, if there is a reddish brick-dust sediment, or white fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good vegetable treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases, and the sufferer can mix it at home: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple prescription.

"Mama, Get More"

That's what your children will say when they once taste Sunshine Biscuits.

One package will give your folks a new idea of how good biscuits can be.

And common biscuits, baked in old-time ways, will never taste good after that.

Sunshine Biscuits

From the Bakery with a Thousand Windows

We've spent 70 years in learning how to make biscuits like these. Yet they were impossible until we built this model bakery.

Now we have the world's finest bakery. The white tile ovens are on the top floor. Air and sunshine are everywhere.

You'll be astounded at these new creations of the baker's art. They are immensely good.

ANSWER PROTEST OF SHIP BOKERS

Thurlow & Crowell of No. 33 Broad street, ship brokers, to-day received an answer to their protest against the United States hiring foreign vessels to carry coal to Cuba. Acting Secretary Newbury of the navy replied that the government had hired but three vessels for this purpose, two being American boats, and that all carried coal at the low rate of $4.15 a ton. The Boston firm replied, offering to carry all they could get at a flat rate of $4.

The highest-grade, lowest-priced clothing that bears the union label is Morse-made.

If it's at Morse's, it's correct.
If it's correct, it's at Morse's.

Lots of men like to go from one store to another, comparing values. And we like to have them do it. It's just the sort of thing that demonstrates the superiority of Morse-Made clothing.

But—when a cold wave comes quickly the desire to "shop around" disappears. The demand for immediate clothes protection takes its place, and the average man hustles to the nearest store for an overcoat.

If that store is ours he can be sure of the overcoat he gets—sure of its style, its quality and its value.

The price range of our overcoat stock extends from $10 to $45. Particularly large variety at $20, $25 and $30.

Your Way

You bake beans in a home oven.

The maximum heat is 200 degrees. In the center of the baking dish, by actual test, it is about 100 degrees.

It requires a fierce heat to break down the fibre of beans, and you cannot supply it.

The result is a heavy food, hard to digest.

You bake beans in a dry heat.

The result is the top beans are crisped. The beans in the center are not even half baked.

You burst the skins, so that the beans become mushy, rather than mealy. Every bean should be whole.

You add the tomato sauce afterwards. It becomes then a dressing, not a part of the beans.

You spend hours in the soaking, the boiling, the baking; and consume considerable fuel.

The bother is irksome. The dish that results is not very good, nor good for you. You think once a week is enough.

Yet it isn't your fault. You simply lack the facilities.

Our Way

We heat our ovens to 245 degrees.

A thermometer is attached to each oven, so the heat never varies. We bake the beans 90 minutes.

That terrific heat separates the atoms, so the digestive juices can get to them. A lesser heat will not do it. Beans, to be digestible, must be factory cooked.

We bake in live steam.

The result is, each separate bean is baked thoroughly, and all are baked alike. None are browned, none are broken.

The beans are baked until they are mealy. Yet they are nutty because they are whole.

We bake the beans, the tomato sauce and the pork all together, and get our delicious blend.

We send our beans to you ready to serve.

Put the can in hot water ten minutes—then open. That's all. You then have a steaming hot meal, fresh and savory.

And such a meal! Your people will want Van Camp's every day when they know them. So keep a dozen cans in the house.

Van Camp's BAKED WITH TOMATO SAUCE PORK AND BEANS

You don't know what you miss—you who don't use Van Camp's. Beans are Nature's choicest food—23% nitrogenous; 84% nutriment. Like meat in their food value; not like it in cost. They are appetizing and hearty; all people like them. They should be a daily dish—not an occasional. You will eat more of them when you know Van Camp's.

We Pay $3.45

We could buy tomato juice for 75c per barrel. Yet we pay $3.45 for just the ripe tomatoes used in a barrel of ours.

The difference is this: Cheap tomato sauce is made from tomatoes picked green and ripened in shipment. Such sauce is flat. Else it is made of scraps from a canning factory. Such sauce is not rich.

We use only whole tomatoes ripened on the vines, picked when the juice fairly sparkles.

Thus we supply that superlative zest, that flavor, that tang, which Nature alone can give.

We spend exactly five times as much to make this sauce as other sauce costs ready-made. But you will say the result is worth it.

Costly Beans

We pay for the beans we use from six to seven times what some beans would cost.

We buy Michigan beans, because a certain soil there produces the best beans grown.

The choicest part of the crop is picked over by hand, so we get only the whitest, the plumpest, the fullest-grown.

We use only succulent, corn-fed pork.

No wonder your grocer has brands that cost less, yet pay him a better profit.

But you won't like the cheap beans. Your people won't eat them often.

It is far more economical to serve the best beans—beans that you can't serve too often. Then serve them in place of meat.

We have spent 47 years in perfecting this dish. And Van Camp's now command, by several times over, the largest sale in the world.

Prices: 10, 15 and 20c per can.

PACKY'S TAUNTS MAKE THE BATTLER WRATHY

BY TAD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Battling Nelson and Packy McFarland came within an ace of staging one another yesterday here at the Journal office. Nelson had been here reading over the Chicago papers and saw one paragraph that got his goat. It was from Harry Gilmore, and the latter, in a letter, said that a certain sport had written him saying that Nelson admitted McFarland to be his master in a twenty-five-round go.

Bat was just saying that he never would admit any one of his weight to be a better man when Gilmore and McFarland came in on the rush. There was a general shaking of hands, and then Nelson asked Gilmore who it was that wrote him the letter. Gilmore thought it wise to keep the name to himself, and then the Dane said that either the letter writer or Gilmore was a liar, and that if it was true that Gilmore should produce the letter.

While they were talking Packy butted in and asked when Bat was going to give him a chance.

"When you lick Joe Gans and prove to me that you are a first-class man I'll fight you, but not before," replied the Dane. "Why, I might just as well let a lot of these local boys have a chance as you. I fought my way to the top through a lot of tough ones. Now you do the same, and when you've licked them come around to me and I'll talk business."

Calls Packy a Lemon.

"Why," yelled Packy, "you call me a lemon picker and a fellow who has been digging them up from the grave. I'll take you for another lemon. That's good enough, isn't it?"

"Don't pull off that gallery stuff around here," retorted the Dane. "You can get the office boy to smile, but it's shine stuff."

"Oh, I can beat you at any place and any time," yelled McFarland then, who was getting madder all the time. "I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll bet you $5,000 that I can take you in the other room and beat you any time."

Nelson hesitated just a moment, then jumped up, he shook his fist at McFarland, saying "Come right up to my hotel and I'll get $5,000 and we'll go right down here in the press room this afternoon and fight it out. I'm not trained a bit, but I'll show you up. Come on, I'll get it in twenty minutes."

McFarland, who had made the crack, was stricken dumb with surprise. "Oh, I haven't that much money with me now," he replied. "I'll have to wait until I get it from Chicago."

Harry Gilmore then jumped in and said: "No, no! none of that. I wouldn't get my cut. We can't make any money in a fight like that."

Nelson sat down smiling then and refused to talk. He had called the bluff and was satisfied that there was nothing doing.

McFarland, who was grilled clear through, then started to say that Nelson had written him a letter offering to box in Milwaukee and have the thing called a draw if they were both on their feet.

Then again Nelson jumped up. "I won't let you get away with that," piped the Dane, "and I'll give you $1,000 if you can show the letter to me. I'll give you $1,000 if you can prove that I ever agreed to fix any fight."

"Well," replied Packy, "maybe I can't find the letter now, but you wrote it."

"You're a liar," piped the Dane, "and you can't show that letter nor any other letter like it."

After Loser's End.

"You're trying to get a fight with me to get a fat loser's end. You haven't licked a live one in your life. The best you ever did was to beat Britt when he was drunk, but you'll have to lick a lot of others before I'll give you a chance. Go and beat Joe Gans. I had to do it three times. Now, you show me."

"I'll fight Gans," said Packy. "Where can I get him? I've licked lots of good fellows and I can lick you. I'll bet you $5,000 on the side, too, in a twenty-five round fight."

"None of those twenty-five round fights for me," was the Dane's come back. "Some other fellow might want to fight me three rounds for the title; another might want two rounds. When I fight it's for forty-five rounds or a finish—none of that parlor stuff for me."

"Here's your record," continued the Dane, as he pulled out a record book. "Who are all these bums you knocked out here?"

McFarland said he didn't know them.

"Oh," piped Gilmore, "they're just phonies. I put them in to fill it up. But Packy can beat you."

"Yes, I'll lick Murphy first and then you, Nelson," chirped Packy, "and after that I'll get $2,000 a week on the stage. I'm eating three times a day, and I won't have any of those tin cans like you have either, when I'm through. You'll probably be a bum then, and I'll have a fine little house over in Ireland for mine."

"That's all right," retorted Nelson with a smile. "You stop talking so much and go out and prove to the world that you can beat Joe Gans, and then you'll have some reason to ask for a fight.

"Why," continued the Dane, "you're a nice fighter, but in my heart I don't think you're a better man than Gans. I want to give the best man a chance. I can't afford to box every one who challenges me. I promise you, McFarland, if you beat Gans I'll fight you within three months, and you won't have to go to Chicago to get your side bet money, either. Don't talk so much and lick a few good fellows as I had to do before I got my title."

They parted smiling, McFarland and Gilmore leaving Nelson sitting at a table in the office.

MAY HARRIS AT HOWARD.

May Harris, the champion woman wrestler, is "showing the goods" in the wrestling line at the Howard. Yesterday after a bitter struggle she succeeded in throwing Eddie Talbot of Chelsea, and in the evening she pinned the shoulders of Bertha Shaw to the mat. Miss Harris is the woman who challenges Cora Livingston for the championship, and offers to meet her at any time for a big purse. During the week Miss Harris will meet all comers.

LAKE WILL AGAIN HEAD RED SOX

Fred Lake will be the manager of the Red Sox next year, he and President Taylor having come to terms.

It was announced at the club headquarters that Lake had been engaged at a given salary and a bonus if the Bostons finish the season in the first division. The higher up the club finishes the larger the bonus.

President Taylor stated at the close of the season, a month ago, that he considered that Lake had made good in his trial as McGuire's successor and should engage him for next year. It was then merely a question of terms.

Manager Lake will accompany President Taylor to the minor league meeting in Chicago, where several important deals are more than likely to be pulled off, as no less than ten players now on the reserve list of the Boston club will be put on the open market.

WESTERGARD TO MEET PERELLI

The large crowd of wrestling fans that went to the Columbia last night, expecting to witness a swell bout between Sam Anderson, the well-known local favorite, and Jack Sinnott, champion of Canada, were doomed to disappointment, as Anderson contracted a severe cold and was unable to appear. The management was hard pressed to secure a suitable substitute at short notice, but finally succeeded in landing Ed Anderson of Waltham to take the place of his namesake. He was apparently not in condition to go against such a sturdy opponent as Sinnott, and the result was a tame exhibition, the latter winning two falls in rapid succession, each bout lasting about five minutes.

Some of the disgruntled ones were inclined to criticise the affair, but the level-headed followers of the game, realizing the high standard of excellence that has always been maintained at the Columbia, readily agreed that the management had undoubtedly done the best possible under the circumstances.

The bout next week will more than atone for last night's disappointment, as John Perelli, the well-known Italian wrestler, who has made quite a reputation for himself as a bad man, will go against Jesse Westergard, the California champion, whom Frank Gotch was unable to throw.

DARTMOUTH ROOTERS TO SEE GAME

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—No end exists to the enthusiasm over the game at the Polo Grounds next Saturday between Princeton and Dartmouth. The Dartmouth representation will be larger than any which has ever left Hanover except to attend the game with Harvard at Cambridge.

Five hundred students at least will be in the cheering section. These will be supplemented by the friends of the Dartmouth players, who have shown the keenest interest in the contest with Princeton.

Dartmouth's first order for tickets has been increased by a supplementary demand for 2,000 more. These will be sold in New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts, where the football contingent is very anxious that Dartmouth shall win. That is due solely to the ambition which New England has to defeat Princeton on the gridiron.

The Tiger will send almost every student to New York to see the game. None will be left behind in Princeton unless short of ready cash or not partial to football. All the students are eager to see what Princeton can do against the strong Dartmouth team, realizing that the contest will be a test for the Yale game.

This year Dartmouth will have the south side of the field and Princeton the north side. For the different stands tickets have been printed of different colors. There will be an entrance for each color, and spectators will facilitate matters by going to the proper entrance, as the color scheme will be lived up to rigidly.

The gridiron will be surrounded by a fence and none will be permitted within the fence except the officials, the players and those who are entitled to side line privileges. The field never was in such fine condition for fast football. The turf is perfect.

BASEBALL NEWS AND NOTES

There's no use fussing, that fellow Hans Wagner is a [illegible] Dutchman. Takes a couple of [illegible] into an old piece of ground, strikes oil and is now thinking of doubling up with John D. John [illegible] must come through with [illegible] change out [illegible] to make the deal more even.

More luck [illegible] for Hans. Secretary Heydler figures that this [illegible] Pirate leads the National League batsmen with a percentage of .354. Mighty fortunate [illegible] man to get his bat in the way of the ball with such frequency.

[illegible]

Addie Joss, in talking about pitchers, says that Clark Griffith was the best example of a pitcher who used his brain. Lacking speed, Griff brought the gray matter into it all and fooled batter after batter.

Farrell is still mum regarding his manager for next season. Dovey denies that Bowerman will pilot the Bostons in Kelley's place. Some wise ones are ready to bet that Stallings is now preparing the Yankees' Southern training schedule and that Bowerman [illegible]. Magnates have a funny way of stalling long after the time to tell the truth has arrived.

Friends of Christy Mathewson say that he is nothing [illegible] an insurance agent and that the $4,000 the Giants [illegible] for a season's work is [illegible].

Owner Farrell is supposed to have said that he would not sell Hal Chase for $20,000 merely as a matter of principle. That bunch of coin would look a lot better to most any club owner than a mediocre first sacker. Still, there is nothing left in a man who goes back on his principle.

A Western exchange hints that Farrell would like to get from under, that the Yankee owner has had enough. These wild and woolly [illegible] sometimes get the right dope, but they must be wrong about this.

A Chicago scribe picks Hobe Ferris as his all American third sacker.

Hoblitzell or Autrey, two youngsters, will fill John Ganzel's place at first for the Reds next year.

Someone sprang a report the other day that Wagner would play in California this Winter. Hans says nix.

Matty McIntyre says if Detroit trades him there is no place he would rather play than in St. Louis under McAleer.

Clarke Griffith was in Cincinnati the other day, but insists his visit had nothing to do with his managing the Reds.

Pretty soft for Charley Carr. He's one man in this wide world who doesn't have to worry about a job for five years. His contract to manage Indianapolis for that length of time is ironclad.

Now it is claimed that Andy Coakley didn't get a cent from the Cubs out of the big show money. Coakley did quite a little toward help winning the rag.

Hans Wagner invested $200 in a West Virginia well last week, and Hans has already refused an offer of $5,000 for his share. He says it's simply a case of Dutch luck.

PAPKE AND KETCHEL TRAIN FOR NEXT BOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 2.—Billy Papke and his manager are in this city and the Illinois thunderbolt has started his training for his twenty-round battle with Ketchel today. Stanley is also in this city, having arrived from the mountains just a few hours after Papke put his foot on Frisco soil.

Both men look healthy and say they never felt better in all their career. It will be a hard grind from now on until Thanksgiving Day, when the men mix. Ketchel is bent on redeeming lost laurels and the Illinois lad is bent on defending his title. This will make it a battle of great interest and a record crowd should be in attendance.

Papke will do his training out in the mountains, while Ketchel will in all probability work at Millet's.

Papke is looking in the best shape and weighs according to his own statement just 158 pounds.

"You see," said the champion, "the question of weight will not worry me in the least. I have been keeping in form all along and feel just as confident of gaining this battle as I did before I entered the ring in Los Angeles with Ketchel before Jeffries's club.

"After that I have agreed to meet Hugo Kelly on December 15 before Jim Jeffries's club in Los Angeles; that is, provided I win. But I figure I will or I would not have signed the contract I did before coming here."

Ketchel is big and putting on weight. He weighs in his street clothes just 180 pounds, but says this is natural after his long rest in the mountains. Manager Joe O'Connor, speaking for Stanley, said:

"I would not like to see the boy weighing any less. This will mean steady work for him to come down to the required weight on the day of the fight. Stanley is a hard worker and brings himself down naturally and by degrees. He will be down to weight and in fine shape for the coming fight. He will probably train at Millett's. I hope to win this fight with Papke and thus retrieve our lost laurels, and in the event we do, will go to Los Angeles and again fight Hugo Kelly.

"I have received the following offer from Jeffries: 'If Stanley wins the Thanksgiving match, will consider proposition to box Hugo Kelly on December 15.'

"In addition to this I have a communication from Sylvie Ferretti, manager of Kelly, to the same effect."

HUB MOTORISTS TO BE IN THE SAVANNAH RACES

BY J. C. KERRISON.

W. S. Talbot of the local branch of the Goodrich Tire Company started South yesterday, to be gone for the remainder of the month. He will witness the light car and Grand Prix races at Savannah. William Hilliard, who is to drive a Lancia in the first named race, leaves Boston early next week, and with three cars at his command will take up training quarters on the course. Grant, another Bostonian, who is to drive the Alco, formerly Berliet, in the Grand Prix, also leaves Boston next week in season to get a little preliminary work on the course.

Louis Hemrich and Rudolph Samet of Seattle, Wash., accomplished something exceptional in the history of automobiling in the Northwest last week when in their Franklin twenty-eight horsepower motor car they climbed seven miles farther up the slope of Mt. Rainier than had ever been attempted before, reached an altitude of 6,000 feet, and returned to Seattle again, all within three days.

They were accompanied by their wives, and as the ascent required more than usual daring the women were frightened.

"Several times I was so unnerved," said Mrs. Samet, "that I turned with a shudder away from the edge of the precipice and looked in the other direction. If one should offer me $5,000 to make the trip again, I would refuse. The scenery, though, was marvelous.

"Both my husband, I and Mr. and Mrs. Hemrich have traveled all over Europe and explored the Alps and the Black Forest, but we agreed that there is nothing in the Old Country that approaches the grandeur we viewed in the cascades. I know positively, too, that there is no road in the Alps on which as high an ascent may be made in an automobile as we accomplished last week."

The White Company has just issued an attractive booklet devoted to the White ambulances, patrol wagons and busses. Considerable space in the booklet is devoted to the ambulances used by the United States War Department and Navy Department and to the official government record recommending the White for this service. The ambulances owned by the cities of New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Trenton also receive attention, the descriptive matter used in this connection being the letters from the superintendents of the several hospitals where the machines have been in use. Some space is given to the private ambulances which have proved most profitable investments for auto-running concerns. The White steam patrol wagons, such as used by several cities in this country and abroad, are illustrated in the booklet and the various types of White busses, especially designed for hotel and livery service, receive due attention. Copies may be obtained upon application to the White company, 320 Newbury street, Boston, Mass.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 5.—Cornell easily defeated Yale in the cross-country run. Captain Young, who finished first for Cornell, made a new record for the six-mile course this afternoon, going over it in 35 min. 57 sec.

[illegible], the Austrian horseman, purchased from A. J. Furbish the noted trotting mare, Dollie K. ([illegible]), by Electmont.

In the twelfth game of the class B billiards at the Hub parlors, Franklin defeated Bishop, 200 to [illegible]. Tonight [illegible] will meet Wylie.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—President Murphy of the Chicago National League Baseball Club declared that Frank Chance would not retire as manager of the world's champions, but would carry out his four years' contract.

BOXING.

GLOUCESTER, Nov. 5.—At the Cape Ann A. C. the feature was an eight-round bout between Jimmy Hanlon of Boston and Tommy Reilly of New York. The decision was given to Reilly. Hanlon was perfectly fresh in the last round, while Reilly was all in. The decision was hissed. The preliminary bout of six rounds between Young Burke and Young Alberts, both of Boston, was won by Burke in the second.

BURNS FINDS STAR BOXER IN AUSTRALIA

Word from Tommy Burns has reached the Hub, and the heavyweight champion gives out some interesting news. Tommy says he has discovered a lightweight in Australia who has it on all the boys in this part of the country. He says he carries more speed than Attell, can hit harder than Lavigne, and is as clever as any lightweight this country has ever turned out. In short, he says he is a better man than Young Griffo.

Tommy says he will bring him over to America after the Johnson fight and try and pit him against Nelson or McFarland. Speaking of himself, he says:

"It may surprise you to know that I have grown since leaving America. I am now scaling at about 210 and expect to climb through the ropes at about 196 pounds. You will see the black man won't have much on me. Johnson has never had a man who could go up to him, and am sure when he finds someone forcing him he is going to back up. I believe I have the strength and the speed to keep pace with Johnson and to outgame and outfinish him at the end. Win or lose, I shall make a couple of good fights in America and an extended theatrical appearance. Then will come retirement.

"In my training I am taking a special electrical treatment in order to help me take off fat. I am getting stout and plainly see the limit of my usefulness in the ring is only a few years. This is a tough thing to say, but I can say it without taking a long breath, inasmuch as I have had 'mine' in plenty and feel well able to weather the future storms of life."

BRITT TO MANAGE HART.

Willus Britt, manager of Battling Nelson, is now looking after the affairs of Marvin Hart, the Louisville heavyweight. Willus will try to clinch a match between Hart and Al Kaufmann, to be fought in California the latter part of this month, if Hart is successful in beating John Willie, the Chicago pugilist, in their six round bout at the National A. C. of Philadelphia on November 14. Britt seems to think that Hart can give Kaufmann a hard fight.

HARVARD MUST TAKE BIG BRACE

Harvard must take a decided brace to make a good showing against the Indians Saturday, despite the reports of the crippled condition of the Redskins.

In two scrimmages against the second and freshman teams the varsity was far from being at its best. The varsity defence showed itself to be very weak at times, and there was no marked improvement over the form of the past few days. There was looseness in the handling of punts in the backfield, although the high wind made accuracy next to impossible. Gil Browne stayed back on kicks, Corbett going into his position at left end.

The first scrimmage, which lasted about fifteen minutes, was with the second team, and resulted with neither side scoring, the second practically outplayed the varsity. The next scrimmage was with the freshmen, and in the first few minutes the freshmen completely outplayed the varsity, but the latter then got their ire up and made the freshmen look like schoolboys, White and Ver Wiebe tearing the freshman line to tatters, going along for plunges of fifteen and twenty yards at a clip.

CLOSE RACE NEXT SEASON, PULLIAM SAYS

On his way to Oklahoma to join in a hunting trip, Harry Pulliam, the National League president, dropped off at St. Louis and allowed this interview:

"We had the greatest year in our history, both from the standpoint of attendance and competition. You know we had to play an extra game to decide the race.

"It should be just as close next year. But before going further I want to give credit to Fred Clarke of Pittsburg. He probably did more with less than any manager in the league. Take first base, for instance. No club ever won a championship without a good man in that position. Clarke had Swacina, Kane, Storke and Gill working there. Not one member of the quartet was particularly good.

"You know more plays are directed at first base than at any other position. At the beginning of the season he had but one outfield position settled. That was left field, where he plays himself. Then Wagner was absent for awhile and he is some player.

"McGraw's young pitchers should help him a lot next season. The fact that Marquard was knocked out of the box in one game he pitched against Cincinnati is no criterion of his ability. He's proved that he's a good pitcher. Durham also should help. Mathewson and Wiltse kept the Giants where they were, and with some assistance next season the team should do better.

"The Philadelphia club is going to be in the hunt. It was the Cardinals that put Murray out of the running last season. Up to the time the Cardinals won three straight from the Phillies, the team had a chance. But not after.

"I really don't know what the situation is in Cincinnati. I believe Mr. Herrmann himself doesn't know. In fact, he told me in Detroit that he wouldn't do anything about next year's manager until after the coming election, when he would put the matter up to his Board of Directors. I have read of Clark Griffith being appointed manager to succeed Ganzel, but don't believe—in fact, I know—that he hasn't got the job yet."

SHERIDAN TO COMPETE.

Martin Sheridan has entered ten events at the indoor championships, which will be held at Madison Square Garden on November 30 and December 1. Sheridan is out to score the largest number of points, and as he is once more in the pink of condition his followers are confident that he can accomplish the wonderful feat.

BALDWIN TO GO TO COAST.

Matty Baldwin, the little Charlestown boxer, may go to the Coast shortly for bouts. Willus Britt is interested in him and will try to arrange some good matches for the local featherweight.

Confidence the Need of the Hour

"Shall the people rule?" was asked in mid-vigor of the campaign. The people have answered the query, and The American subscribes to and will support that reply.

Mr. Taft, on the heels of Mr. Roosevelt's 4th of March departure, will take up the responsibilities of the White House. Every one should give him his best word, his best help.

The need of the hour is confidence—commercial confidence. To invoke it there should be political confidence. The latter can only be arrived at by the whole people coming together as one and giving Mr. Taft their compact support. No one questions his honesty, his patriotism, his public well-meaning. If he make mistake, fall into error, it will be of the head. The Taft heart is all right

Until such mistake appear, such error occur, no one caring honestly for general good will criticise or interfere.

There has been too much Democracy, too much Republicanism—in brief, too much partisanship injected into government in the recent past, and thereby the popular welfare suffered and was not served.

It will redound to common weal and induce that condition of commercial and political confidence so necessary to the general well doing if, for a change, a healthful change, we set partisanship aside, supplanting it with broad patriotism.

Mr. Taft was the candidate of a party. He will be the people's President, a truth we all should bear in honest mind.

Let him not, therefore, be pre-judged to his disfavor. Give him time to act and room to act. Be not eager to criticise, ready to find complaining fault. Banish distrust until Mr. Taft in what he does shall himself furnish the seed and the food of it.

Pouren WILL NOT Go Back to Russia

Root Is a Trickster, of Course—but He Won't Oblige the Russian Government This Time

President Roosevelt knows perfectly well that Pouren, the Russian revolutionist, ought not to be extradited. Mr. Roosevelt has seen a petition for Pouren signed by 70,000 men and women—and 20,000 names have been added to it since he saw it.

The President could not READ all of those names, and he could not KNOW all of those men and women. But he knows perfectly well that the man in whose favor they write their petition IS A REVOLUTIONIST PROTECTED FROM EXTRADITION BY OUR TREATY, AND NOT A CRIMINAL.

Mr. Roosevelt knows SOME of those that signed the petition and that have worked for Pouren. Among them are Jacob Schiff, of New York, and Nathan Bijur, and James B. Reynolds, and Miss Lillian D. Wald, worth a dozen of the others.

The President KNOWS that people of this kind are not combining with 90,000 other men and women to free an ordinary CRIMINAL.

We write on the subject of Pouren again to-day because his friends are worried by the very common and cheap trickery of Elihu Root. They are afraid that Pouren will be sent back to the Russian prison and the Russian torture.

Once more we assure them THAT POUREN WILL NOT GO BACK.

Root undoubtedly would send him back to oblige the Russian Government, which in turn could oblige the big American trusts that usually hire Root.

Root did what he could, in a clumsy sort of way, to protect himself, deceive President Roosevelt, and at the same time oblige Russia.

He notified the Russian Government in advance that Pouren would be technically freed, in order that the Russian Government might immediately rearrest him—which it did—and thus put the case in the hands of the courts and apparently free Root and Roosevelt from responsibility.

This is a Root method, but it isn't exactly a ROOSEVELT method. Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly believes in Root, and he apparently is not influenced by the fact that Root was Tweed's lawyer, and that he has since been the lawyer of the leading scoundrels in this country.

If Root had nothing to do except deceive Mr. Roosevelt, he might succeed this time as he has done previously.

But there are 90,000 written names pleading for Pouren. And there's the public sentiment backed by millions of Americans demanding justice for him.

Roosevelt will be bound to look into the facts FOR HIMSELF before he allows this man to be sent back to oblige Russia, and to get for Root influence with Russia that will be later useful to the Steel Trust and the Oil Trust, that want Russian concessions and Russian money.

When Mr. Roosevelt looks into the facts he will find that the men in Russia testifying against Pouren, WITHOUT EXCEPTION, testified that his crimes, so called, were political. They testified, "Pouren hated us because we showed the soldiers where the revolutionists met." They testified, "Pouren hated us because we told the soldiers the meeting places of the revolutionists and their names."

Mr. Root is a fox, but Mr. Roosevelt is not a fool. Mr. Roosevelt knows perfectly well that the Russian Government doesn't use its power and high-priced lawyers like Coudert, and still higher priced jackals like Root, in the effort to get back a mere ordinary criminal.

The Czar and his friends don't worry about little burglars or highwaymen. They would be busy if they tried to keep track of every man that Russian misgovernment has driven to crime. But IT IS WORTH THE WHILE OF RUSSIA TO ESTABLISH THE PRECEDENT THAT A RUSSIAN FRIEND OF LIBERTY IS NOT SAFE IN AMERICA.

That is why Russia is making such a desperate fight to get Pouren back. That is why Root is trying to oblige the trusts that usually hire him, by seeking to gain Russia's friendship for them through Pouren's return. It isn't only Pouren that they want; they want THE PRECEDENT.

But we repeat they won't get Pouren, and they won't get the precedent.

Why Human Beings Grow Old

Recent Tests Give New Light on the Possibilities of Physical Health and Longevity

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

AN interesting thing happened at Yale College the other day. Karl Mann, who is what the Germans call a "lacto vegetarian" (meaning probably that he uses milk and eggs besides vegetables), called at Yale and was asked to test his endurance on the "ergograph," a lifting machine.

An ordinary man, in good health and with well developed muscles, lifts this machine thirty to sixty times without intermission. One man had made a record of 175 lifts some years ago. Horace Fletcher lifted the score to 350.

Now comes along Mr. Karl Mann, the vegetarian, and makes a record of 687.

Six hundred and eighty-seven.

This same young man distinguished himself in 1902 by winning the walking match from Berlin to Dresden. His speed and endurance surpassed those of all the meat-eating competitors.

Dr. C. A. Stevens, in his work entitled "Natural Salvation; the Message of Science," talks of the "intimate causes of old age and organic death." According to his beliefs, founded upon much careful investigation, man ought to live and remain vigorous far beyond his so-called allotted span.

Meant to Live Forever

"It is fair to infer," says Dr. Stevens, "that if, at the age of fifty or sixty, it was the custom of human beings to enter on a new cycle of brain life, and there were opportunity and social field for it, a new axis of personality would slowly take the place of the old, and that the cell life of the brain would arrange itself about it, quite as readily as if no former development had taken place.

"The problem of such prolonged life would lie in giving the brain cells a pure normal food through uninjured blood circulation.

"The brain appears to be a colony of cells destined to live forever, and capable of doing so but for the diseases and frailties which it has developed."

Old age is the result of imperfect food and imperfect living, is the argument of Dr. Stevens.

Therefore, it behooves those desirous of keeping old age at bay to begin in youth, and certainly by middle age, to make a study of the chemical properties of food, and to consume only those which provide nutrition and sustenance to the human system, and to spare the digestive machinery needless work, which results only in destructive processes for the brain and body.

Meat Diet Harmful

Fine flour, as a food of daily diet, helps to bring on old age. A heavy meat diet does not give strength, health or vigor, and it does induce any number of maladies.

Karl Mann is but one of many athletes who have proven the benefit of a meatless diet, by winning the medals in athletic contests with flesh-eaters.

Milk, eggs, vegetables, fruits and plenty of water seem to supply the human system with all it needs to provide force and energy and health.

A few years ago a youth named Harry Weinberg saw an offer made by the New York American of one hundred dollars for the most perfectly developed youth of a certain age and stature. This young man was a semi-invalid, suffering from rheumatism and other maladies, but the ambition seized him to win the prize. He began by dropping meat, alcohol, tobacco, tea and coffee from his diet, and by taking ten minutes a day of physical exercises, increasing these exercises to twenty minutes twice a day; and with this system of procedure, to believe he was to gain absolute health and the American prize.

Need Not Grow Decrepit

He succeeded and became a perfect type of virile, splendid young manhood. The last known of him he was finishing a course of study at a vegetarian medical college.

We need not grow decrepit; we need not suffer from a thousand and one maladies; we can keep well and full of vitality after the half century mark is passed, if we will use common sense, self-control and reason in our diet and in our exercise and hold ourselves mentally expectant of health every day of every year.

If you are ailing and ageing, to-day, begin now to give up stimulants and narcotics; eat little meat and little white fine flour; partake of raw foods as much as possible for a few months each year; drink water and milk; breathe deep breaths every day—breaths which will fill your whole body with pure air; take ten-minute exercises which bring all your muscles into action; and believe that health is yours.

It will be.

In an Interesting Land

By James S. Evans

IN that part of Tennessee where the President and the President-elect will go hunting in a week or so, resting from their labors after a political campaign, there is every chance for fun and frolic.

Mr. Roosevelt will not find any mountain lions there. Nor bear. But the wildwoods are scattered with deer. Foxes have their holes and birds of the air their nests, and neither are afraid to come out.

Between Jellico and Asheville there is a rugged mountain range where tall cedars flourish and the caps of the rocks fitted for the devil's comb, where, when the storms are severe, he comes forth with mane heavy in dampness and smoothes out his wrinkles.

These peaks are so lofty as to suggest that the very smallest kind of a child, with a straw no longer than a pipe stem, may half bend his elbow and tickle the feet of the prettiest angel that dallies around the prophets who long ago went skyward in chariots emblazoned with fire.

The hemlock entwines its branches with the fir and the evergreen. The pine and the oak grow in unison and harmony. Down the rocky sides of hills and precipices flow waters so bright and pretty as to catch and hold and glorify the clearness of the skies, to reflect the light of the heavens above, to make a picture even for the dullest of eyes and narrowest of souls superlatively grand.

From the cabins, located here and there, in coves and by fort-recess of rock and rim, defended by natives short on Washington style, but long on rifle barrel, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft may make drafts for pure buttermilk and friend chicken.

And if there be occasions when, drenched with rain occasioned by hunts that bring neither hide nor hoof, they may call for the "moonshine" whose rays never grow dark and at best sells for no more than $1 a gallon.

It is in Andrew Jackson's country; where Andrew Johnson sewed buttons on the "pants" of proletariats; where Daniel Boone, after killing all the bear in Kentucky, sallied forth to find them in another territory; where Sam Houston "licked" Indians and alligators until he was tired of the sport and then went to Texas to form an empire; where Sevier roamed and disported himself among maidens more beautiful than Pocahontas.

Henry Clay Evans, too, at present lives in that country. He followed a sutler's wagon from Michigan to that State during the Civil War. Then he had no money. Now he is the richest man in the State and is recognized as a "modern" business gentleman. And he is both Mr. Taft's and Mr. Roosevelt's friends.

Let Us Be Quiet!

By Winifred Black

THE Dressmakers' Union has issued an ultimatum against the gossiping dressmaker.

Score one for the Dressmakers' Union.

Now, if the Amalgamated Society of Human Beings would only get together and put a ban on the gossiping demon, life would be quite worth living.

I wonder if the gossip fiends have the faintest idea what nuisances they are. I know a dressmaker who is clever, awfully clever. She can take a few yards of ordinary material and make you look as if you had just come from Paris; but she talks. Shuddering nerves, how she does talk!

She'll tell you all about the Blanks' breakfasts and the Somebody's dinners and the Nobody's luncheons, before she's cut the lining out; and by the time she is ready for the first fitting, she knows all about everything in your house, who gets up late, who comes in late, and why, and has it all stowed away in her memory, ready to tell to the next person she intends to afflict.

She was making me a simple little house dress a week or so ago, and right in the very midst of it I grew so desperate under the clap of her never-ceasing tongue, and the spark of her gimlet eye, that I told her she needn't finish the dress, and sent her home in a perfect flutter of glorious excitement. I suppose she'll tell her next customer that I am a morphine subject or something, to pay me up. But I don't care; I'm so glad to be rid of her that nothing matters now.

I'm going to make my little girl learn to keep still, absolutely and completely and entirely still, for an hour a day every single day; I want her to learn to be a blessing.

Most women talk too much, too often, too loud and too fast.

It is the hardest work in the world to get anything done in a house where there are two women. They have to stop and talk over everything over and over and over again till the very air reverberates with the never-ending din.

What a rest the silent person is!

And I'm going to make my little girl fold her hands and keep her feet still and stop biting her lips, and I shan't let her raise even an eyebrow during her repose hour. If she can learn the Chinese habit of calm, self-refreshing rest by that hour's discipline in a day, some man and a score or so of women are going to rise up some day and call me blessed.

Sh-sh, sisters, we talk too much; let's be quiet for a little while.
